CONKLIN FACING THIRD COMPLAINT

American, Who Crashed In Andes March 10, Found Alive

CONSPIRACY TO BRIBE IS NEW CHARGE

Land Commissioner and George Lane, Ex-Assistant, Alleged to Have Forced Earl Tracy and Gerald Hinchey to Pay Sums for Jobs as Capitol Janitors.

Land Commissioner Harry P. Conklin and his former assistant custodian of the capitol, George Lane, were named defendants in a complaint charging them with conspiracy to bribe filed Thursday morning in Municipal court. The charge is the third criminal action brought against Conklin since an investigation was launched six weeks ago by Gov. C. W. Bryan and Attorney General Paul F. Good into the activities of the land commissioner's office.

The prosecutions are all based on an alleged salary collection racket practiced on capitol janitors under Conklin during the past year and are supported by affidavits from the janitors. Conklin was awaiting trial in district court on the first charge, perjury, accusing him of swearing falsely to payroll vouchers calling for higher salaries for two employes than the salaries at which they were hired. Conklin, his deputy, J. Herbert Wehn, and Lane, formerly chief capitol janitor, are charged jointly in the second complaint with conspiring to defraud the state by forcing several janitors to kick back the difference between their actual salaries and those named in their salary warrants.

Arraignment Friday.

M. V. Beghtol, attorney for both Conklin and Lane, announced that they would appear in Municipal court for arraignment Friday morning.

The complaint filed Thursday charges Conklin and Lane with conspiring to commit a felony by demanding and receiving from two former custodial employes $10 monthly for several months "as a reward for and in consideration that said defendant Harry P. Conklin, had exercised powers vested in him and performed a duty of him required, with partiality and favor" by employing the men and retaining them in their employment.

Drawn under the bribery section of the statutes naming a state officer who receives any reward for influence in making appointments guilty of bribery, the charge carries a penalty of from 1 to 5 years in prison on each of the two counts in the complaint.

Tracy Firing Started Probe.

In the first count, the complaint charges that Conklin and Lane received $10 monthly for eleven months from Earl Tracy, former capitol nightwatchman whose discharge several weeks ago was the spark that set off the investigation of Conklin's office. The period covered in this count is from April, 1933, to February, 1934, inclusive, the amount received from Tracy totalling $110.

The second count alleges that Gerald Hinchey, another former employe, paid Conklin and Lane $10 monthly for twelve months from March, 1933 to February, 1934, inclusive, a total of $120. Hinchey was discharged from the janitorial service last Monday. He was reemployed by the state highway department, under Governor Bryan.

CONKLIN COUNSEL CRITICIZES FILING OF NEW CHARGES

Beghtol and Basye Say 'We'll Try Our Case In Courtroom'

"We'll try our case in court."

Using these words as a theme, Defense Attorneys M. V. Beghtol and Lee Basye Thursday criticized the piling up of more charges and the giving out of "prejudicial" interviews by state attorneys prosecuting Harry P. Conklin.

The statement:

"The attorney general and his staff should be seeking a clinic rather than a court. They are plainly affected by mild cases of hysteria. They have up to this time filed charges enough against Mr. Conklin to send him, if he is convicted, to the penitentiary for 179 years and fine him $140,000.

"Meanwhile, they seek more and better charges and give interviews plainly intended to pre-judge the cases. The statement this morning of Mr. Wright, that the seven janitors, who seem to have again attached themselves to the state payroll, are being threatened, with the implication that Mr. Conklin is doing the threatening, is absurd.

"Mr. Conklin has not and will not seek the slightest delay in the trial of any of the cases brought against him nor attempt to intimidate or influence any witness nor interrupt in any way the orderly processes of the courts. He will answer and refute all of the twenty-five charges now made, and in that refutation there will be developed the reason he has been so constantly urged to resign and make of himself the scapegoat of any irregularities, past, present and future in state offices. The cases will not be tried by interviews in the newspapers or any other place except the courtroom.

"We believe that when the trials are heard it will be demonstrated that some of the wild statements concerning Mr. Conklin's alleged misdeeds might more properly have been directed at the authors themselves."

PAT HARRISON FLAYS LONG ON SENATE FLOOR

Says Huey's Opinion Less Respected Than Any Other Senator.

'KINGFISH' INVITES RIGHTOR 'OUTSIDE'

Bradley Avers He Gave $5,000 to Help Pay Political Debts.

WASHINGTON, April 5—(AP)—Huey Long was called to order in the senate for a violation of rules today, for inferring that Senator Pat Harrison has a way of dealing with a friend that means to get him in trouble, "stick him in the back and drink his blood."

It was the climax of a day-long word feud between the Louisiana and Mississippi democrats, followed avidly by throngs first in a committee hearing and later in the senate itself.

The point of order was raised against Long by Senator Clark, democrat, Missouri, as the Louisianan was just getting going on a vitriolic attack.

SENATOR HARRISON.

WASHINGTON, April 5—(AP)—Antagonism between Senator Huey Long and administration leadership burst forth in the senate today with Pat Harrison of Mississippi saying "the opinion of the senator from Louisiana is less respected by the membership of this body as a whole and by the country than any other senator here."

The two outspoken legislators had been in several lesser disputes a while before at a senate finance committee hearing on the confirmation of D. D. Moore as internal revenue collector in Louisiana, opposed by Long.

Edward Rightor, Moore's attorney, was invited by Long to "go outside" after Rightor had said of Jefferson race track in Louisiana, "That's your track, Sen-

Wounded Youth To Lose Sight of One Eye

Donald Ritterbush, 17, of Garrison, one of the two truckers shot near David City Monday night by a young farmer who mistook the men for grain thieves, probably will lose the sight of his right eye, according to Dr. J. J. Hompes. Ritterbush was brought to Lincoln Wednesday afternoon and taken to the home of relatives on a farm near the Veterans hospital.

"One pellet entered the right eyeball and it is problematical if the vision will ever be regained or whether the eyeball can be retained," Dr. Hompes said. "Another pellet struck the left eye but did not enter the eyeball. The sight of the left eye has not been impaired."

Extra Clerk Voted For Each Senator

SLATE COLUMBUS SUIT ARGUMENT

Supreme Court to Hear Debate On Validity Of District Act.

Question of constitutionality of the act under which Nebraska's two big PWA-approved water projects were organized was to be laid before the Supreme court Thursday afternoon. Attorneys for Walter Loseke, Platte county supervisor, and for the Columbus project were scheduled to argue a quo warranto action brought by Loseke.

The court's decision will not only decide the fate of the $7,300,000 Columbus project, but also that of the $7,500,000 Sutherland development and all other districts organized or proposed to be organized under S. F. 310, the 1933 enabling act.

OMAHA MAN IS GIVEN 90 DAYS POISONING DOGS

OMAHA, April 5—(AP)—Accused by neighbors of having spread poisoned liver that brought death of four pet dogs, James D. Brisben, 73, was sentenced to 90 days in jail by Municipal Judge Palmer in Police court today. He was charged with malicious destruction of property.

In sentencing Brisben, Judge Palmer described the poisoning as "a low contemptible thing." Testimony was introduced to show that Brisben had purchased a quantity of liver and some poison crystals. To his statement that a neighbor woman had cooked the liver for him, the woman asserted there had been no liver in her home "for weeks."

SENATE DEFEATS BOOST IN RATES ON INCOME TAX

Norris Asks 50 Per Cent Levy On Certain Utility Valuations.

WASHINGTON, April 5—(AP)—The senate today rejected a proposal to increase from 4 to 6 per cent the existing normal income tax and to levy surtaxes ranging from 6 to 71 per cent as against an existing range of 1 to 55 per cent.

It was offered by Senator La Follette, republican, Wisconsin.

By this action the senate retained the less severe finance committee schedule calling for a flat 4 per cent normal rate and surtaxes ranging from 5 to 59 per cent.

The committee surtaxes run through 29 brackets as compared with 28 in the house bill and begin the 5 per cent on net incomes between $4,000 and $6,000 and reach 59 per cent on those over $1,000,000.

The vote against the LaFollette rates was 47 to 36.

Nebraskans Vote Yes.

Senators Norris and Thompson, Nebraska, voted for the proposal.

Chairman Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, of the finance committee asked the senate to defeat the proposal, saying the way to get a redistribution of wealth was by higher estate taxes.

Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, offered an amendment to levy a 50 per cent tax on increased valuations of public utilities which were not represented by cash paid in or cash value of improvements.

Urging approval of the La Follette income rates, Senator Norris said:

"We have the greatest indebtedness in history—more than in war—so if there ever was an excuse for a higher rate of tax it is now."

Norris said "millions were suffering because they had no income and a man with a net income of

SMITH ASSERTS NO TIEUP MADE

Not In Deal With Sorensen Or Any Other Candidate.

OMAHA, April 5—(AP)—Robert Smith, state republican leader who yesterday filed at Lincoln as candidate for his party's senatorial nomination, today issued a denial that there is a tieup or has been any talk of a tieup between himself as senatorial candidate and C. A. Sorensen as candidate for governor. He added that he had no tieup with any other candidate.

"For factionalism to spring up before the primary would be a bad thing for the party after the primary," he said. "Each candidate must run on his own merits. Sorensen no doubt will have friends who vote for him and not for me; and I will probably have friends who won't vote for Sorensen."

FEBRUARY JOBS AND PAY AT NEW HIGH SINCE 1931

Payrolls Up 12 Per Cent, Employment 6 Per Cent Over January.

VOLUNTARY CUTS IN HOURS LIKELY

Indications Point to Further Improvement in March Figures.

WASHINGTON, April 5—(AP)—Payrolls in American manufacturing industry hit a new high in February, creating peaks in both wages and employment untouched since early 1931.

The department of commerce, announcing this today, added that probable further improvement in March would supplant these figures, but that only incomplete estimates for the month were available.

The department stated that a swelling in manufacturing payrolls of 12 per cent in February as compared to January constituted the greatest one month improvement in 15 years.

A 6 per cent gain in actual factory employment during the month as compared to January was recorded as having been exceeded only three times in 15 years.

Other Pay Increases.

None of the figures included the splurge of pay increases recently announced in the steel, automobile and other industries, many of which go into effect this month.

The NRA was disclosed today to be watching such data intently, while gathering more of its own.

On good authority it was indicated that quick general action by industry to shorten working hours for re-employment is not now expected by blue eagle officials, but within a reasonable period voluntary cuts are looked for from large individual groups.

If not, the original idea that a flat 10 per cent reduction be required by the government of all who cannot show good cause to the

FIRST MEN GO TO WORK HERE ON FERA JOBS

117 Placed Thursday; Plan To Start 900 By Saturday.

First FERA crews went to work here Thursday, 95 men reporting on county projects and 22 to the city paving repair department. Cards have been issued to 400 men and that number is expected to be at work Friday.

By Thursday night, County Director H. R. Joost expects to have 500 more carded out to report for work Saturday or as soon as physical examinations can be completed. Examinations of workers for city projects began Thursday afternoon at the offices of the health department under supervision of Dr. M. F. Arnholt, health superintendent.

Six physicians were on the job under an arrangement between the city and county medical society calling for a charge of 40 cents for each man examined. Services of twenty physicians are expected to be called for before the work is complete. Plans call for examining 2,000 men. Expense will be paid by the city departments according to the number of men examined for each.

Early Morning Work.

Of the 95 men reporting on county projects, Thursday, 55 went to the Roca quarry and 40 were placed on repair of the Salt Creek and Oak Creek bridges on North Fourteenth street.

Two shifts a day are being used on the bridges, one shift starting work at 4 o'clock in the morning and working until noon and the second shift working from noon

WAGNER BILL HIT BY STEEL CHIEFS

Measure to Outlaw Company-Dominated Unions Is Attacked.

WASHINGTON, April 5—(AP)—The steel industry massed its mammoth weight today against the Wagner bill to outlaw company-dominated unions, terming the measure "vicious," "destructive" and "grossly unfair" in testimony before the senate labor committee.

Spokesmen were Ernest T. Weir, chairman of the National Steel corporation; Arthur H. Young, vice president of the United States Steel corporation, and Charles R. Hook, president of the American Rolling Mill Co.

Weir, whose opposition to NRA labor policies has been taken to court by the government, contended that "industry cannot function under such a handicap as would be imposed" by the bill.

Young said advocates of the measure were union officials, government officials and college professors.

Hook asserted the legislation would tend to destroy industrial peace and democracy.

Opposition also was voiced by Jack Larkin, chairman of the employes' organization at Weirton, who asserted the national labor board had kept in touch with "union agitators" during Weir's controversy with the government.

Charges Highhanded Attitude.

He said an investigator recently sent to Weirton by the board turned out to be a member and former organizer for the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers.

Larkin contended the board had maintained a "highhanded" attitude toward efforts of Weirton employes to work out their own plans for collective bargaining.

"In my opinion Senator Wagner's bill is wholly designed to force unions upon the workers of this country because he has failed in those efforts through the labor board as it is now constituted," he said, "and the workers at Weirton are vigorously opposed to it."

Nebraska, With No Bonded Debt of Its Own, Soon To Receive $750,000 From Investments In Other States' Bonds

Nebraska's status as a creditor of other states will be reduced during the next three months by payments of more than a quarter of a million dollars of Massachusetts and Mississippi bonds which this state has held as investments for 30 years, more or less, and which are now about to reach their maturity dates. The money to be received from these sources will be reinvested in securities of Nebraska's own governmental subdivisions.

First of the outstanding bonds of sister commonwealths on the program for redemption is $63,000 of Massachusetts 3½ per cent obligations, being the last of an original issue for prison and hospital construction in that state.

$36,000 Already Paid.

At one time Nebraska owned over 1½ million dollars of Massachusetts bonds dated in different years from 1902 to 1906, inclusive, issued for various purposes.

Of the total amount, $56,000 has already been paid off as the installments came due. The first $10,000 was retired in 1917; then $10,000 more in 1918; $9,000 in 1919; $7,000 in 1920; $5,000 in 1925; $5,000 in 1926; and $10,000 in 1928.

Massachusetts still owes Nebraska $1,459,000 on its I. O. U.'s, some of which have until 1945 to run.

The state of Mississippi is expected to take up the last $200,000 of its bonds still held by Nebraska, when they mature on July 1, next. The rest of a total amount of $557,000 which was originally bought by this state has been redeemed heretofore. These bonds also bear 3½ per cent.

Montana Bonds Retired.

Back in 1907 State Treasurer L. G. Brian of Nebraska made a special trip to Montana and purchased a considerable amount of that state's bonds for investment of the permanent school fund. They were held a number of years, but did not run for so long a term, and Montana paid them off a decade or more ago.

The policy of buying bonds of other states has been discontinued, and the state of Nebraska now puts all its investment funds into either the bonds of its own municipalities, counties, school districts, and other subdivisions or United States bonds. It has almost $14,000,000 invested, including the Massachusetts and Mississippi securities.

N. C. MARSHALL SURVIVES TREK THROUGH WILDS

Milwaukee Man Reported Found by Indians, Extremely Weak, After Wandering in Dense Jungles Following Plane Plunge in Colombia—Other Occupants Killed.

CALI, Colombia, April 5—(AP)—Newton C. Marshall of Milwaukee, was reported found alive today, the only survivor of an airplane crash on March 10 in the Andes.

The report of the discovery was made officially by the Bolivar-Valle department.

It was said that five bodies were found in the cabin of the airplane, the Von Krohn of the Scadta airline.

Details of how Marshall may have survived three weeks in the jungle after the crash were not immediately available.

There was confusion here over the reported finding of Marshall alive and five other occupants of the plane dead, for on March 10, when the plane took off on a flight in the wild Choco district of western Colombia it was reported to be carrying four persons.

They were Marshall; the pilot, Capt. Walter Geck, and two other passengers, Julio Ziniga, employe of the Choco Intendencia, and an unidentified German.

Search Finally Abandoned.

For many days after the plane disappeared, military commercial craft went up in search of it, but nothing was found and the aerial search finally was abandoned.

The region is mountainous and filled with heavy jungle growth making land travel extremely difficult.

At the time of its loss, the plane was on a flight between Quibdo and Cartago. It was traveling in the great Choco mining area where gold and platinum often is transported by airplane.

Marshall was said to have been found alive by a party of Indians searching for treasure.

They said Marshall was extremely weak and had been forced to leave

MORE BODIES FOUND.

ELK CITY, Okla., April 5—(AP)—The bodies of 11 flood dead—farm wives and children—were found today in the red mud flats and driftwood of the receding Washita river.

Motorboats chugged up the mist-veiled river, seeking at least six more bodies. That was the number known to be missing, but E. H. McClanahan, a state game ranger, predicted the eventual death toll would include others.

ELK CITY, Okla., April 5—(AP)—Nine bodies had been recovered today as the receding Washita river gave up the victims of its disastrous rampage.

House Leaves Out Norris Proposal

WASHINGTON, April 5—(AP)—The house today passed a bill to guarantee the principle of home loan mortgage bonds and sent it back to the senate without a provision requested by President Roosevelt to bar politics in making appointments to the Home Owners Loan corporation.

The senate adopted the provision, offered by Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, but it was eliminated by a house committee.

An effort is expected by democratic leaders to restore the Norris amendment when the measure goes to a conference committee to adjust differences between the two branches.

UTILITY PROBES BEING HELD IN NUMBER STATES

New York and Federal Action Remain In Spotlight.

(By the Associated Press.)

Although the spotlight on the public utilities battle front is thrown on New York today, with Gov. Herbert H. Lehman and members of the legislature insisting on a far flung investigation of all utility companies as a result of the sensational Thayer letters," nevertheless the fight for greater regulation and reduction in rates is being pressed in many parts of the country, a survey discloses.

National Probe Ordered.

In the nation's capital, the house voted yesterday a nationwide investigation of electric power rates by the federal trade commission. The senate has already passed the resolution.

Pennsylvania's public service commission this week passed a resolution proposing informal conferences with all utilities companies to make 6 per cent instead of 7 the allowed fair return on property value.

In Michigan, the state public utilities commission has just ordered a reopening of the telephone rate case to determine the possibility of lowering rates to rural users and the feasibility of a flat rate for Detroit.

West Virginia is using a legislative appropriation of $90,000 to investigate utility rates. Many reductions have already been ordered.

Probe In Arkansas.

Arkansas has a fact finding tribunal investigating the power companies.

Six bills were introduced in the New Jersey legislature this week to broaden the public utility commission's powers.

In Utah, the commission has cases pending against power and telephone companies to reduce rates.

In Texas all the legislation proposed to regulate utilities companies at the last legislature was defeated.

Commissions in California and Oregon have all recently ordered rate reductions. Washington is investigating all privately owned companies.

Phone Rates In Nebraska.

A disagreement in Nebraska over the extent of jurisdiction of the commission is holding up the commission's effort to exercise more power over telephone companies.

Rhode Island has several regulatory bills in committee but action on any of them is said to be unlikely.

Municipal ownership proposals won in six cities in Wisconsin at last Tuesday's election and lost in seven others.

The Ohio legislature has a proposal before it providing for an increase in the excise tax on utility companies.

Spread Of Anthrax Causes Concern; 12 Premises Quarantined

Concern was expressed Wednesday by the state veterinarian over the increase in the spread of anthrax so far this year over the same period in 1933. Conditions in the anthrax area in northeast Nebraska have been favorable for the spread of the disease.

Twelve premises are under quarantine at present, compared to nine on the corresponding date a year ago. Thirteen were under quarantine Tuesday, but one was lifted in Boyd county. To date, fifteen premises have been quarantined since January 1, and sixty-one head of cattle have been lost.

RECORD ASSURED AT EXPOSITION

Large Crowds Continue; Many Refrigerator Sales Reported.

Record-breaking crowds continued to throng the third annual Lincoln Electric Refrigeration show Wednesday night and exposition sponsors were definitely assured that a new attendance record for the show would be hung up by closing time Saturday night.

Crowd interest was also breaking all records, exhibitors reported. Numerous sales from the floor and many fine prospects were noticed on every hand, giving credence to the report that the show "is definitely a success."

Entertainment feature of the Wednesday night show was the appearance of the Minstrel Four, an aggregation from the "Georgia Minstrels," current vaudeville feature of the Orpheum theater. This quartet, composed of Chester Jones, George Jones, Earl Hall, and Lee Glover, sang numerous old-time southern songs. They proved a distinct hit with the crowd.

Thursday night's show, in addition to the educational exhibits of the various Lincoln firms, will be featured by a complete change in entertainment program.

Lincoln Association Holds Annual Election of Officers; New Code Discussed.

Max Armstrong was elected president of the Lincoln Retail Drug association at the annual meeting held at the Lincoln hotel Wednesday evening. He succeeds Guy Butler. Walter A. Baker was chosen vice president, and J. E. Batteen and L. S. Gilmour were re-elected secretary and treasurer, respectively.

The new retail drug code which will go into effect on April 9, was explained as a control of price maintenance, prohibiting the sale of proprietary or toilet articles below cost—cost being determined as the wholesaler's list price.

A resolution was passed regulating the enforcement of drug laws of the state, and a committee was appointed to confer with Governor Bryan on enforcement.

Plans for the annual state druggists' convention, to be held at Omaha May 8 to 10, were also considered. Thirty-five were present.

CLAUDE PILGER HURT IN CRASH

Man Thrown From Auto In Four-Machine Collision.

Four cars were involved in an accident tangle in which Claude Pilger, 23, 821 South Fifteenth street, was hurled from his car and injured at the corner of Fourteenth and O streets at 10:14 o'clock Wednesday evening.

The accident occurred, according to police, when a car driven by Carl Wiggenhorn, 1548 P street, a university sophomore from Ashland, ran into the Pilger machine while both of them were going west on O street. The Pilger machine rammed into a parked car belonging to Fred Waller, jr., 2726 South Thirteenth street, shoving it over the curbing onto the sidewalk. A fourth car was also hit.

Pilger suffered a small gash on the back of his head and shock. He was taken to police headquarters and treated by Dr. R. D. Underwood, city physician. Kathleen Driskill, 1630 H street, university freshman who was riding with Wiggenhorn, suffered a broken tooth, police reported.

Webb A. Browne, Alaska railroad agent at Nenana, says he has used the same fountain pen for more than 40 years.

Jury Hearing Rep. Shoemaker Case Discharged

WASHINGTON, April 5—(AP)—A new trial for Representative Shoemaker farmer-labor, Minnesota, on charges of assaulting a taxicab driver has been set for April 25. A Police court jury deliberated for six hours last night without reaching an agreement.

Reported to have stood 11 to 1 for conviction, the jury of 10 men and 2 women was discharged late last night by Judge Gus A. Schuldt.

Charles Newman, the cab driver, accused Shoemaker of bumping his car six or eight times when he failed to start quickly enough at a traffic light, pushing him 200 feet by ramming him. He said Shoemaker then punched him in the eye, swore at him and threatened to kill him.

The Minnesota representative, who had a colleague, Cannon, farmer-labor, Minnesota, as his attorney, denied the charges, although telling the court he might have used a few "hells and damns."

Judith Lane

by JEANNE BOWMAN

SYNOPSIS: Judith Dale knows that her husband's law partner, Morton Lampere, plans to wreck her old employer's plans for the Rio Diablo dam, which were put into Judith's hands for execution upon the death of Big Tom Bevins, whose pet project it was. Judith has been left the Bevins fortune in trust, to be spent on the dam. But Norman, her husband, is torn by the belief that Judith should step out of the picture, they have quarreled, and now, reconciled, have settled back to talk.

Chapter 17.

NEW RIFT.

The meal over, dishes back in the kitchen, Norman found an old scarlet dressing gown dug in its pockets for pipe and pouch then filling and lighting the pipe sank into the divan

Judith at a gestured invitation curled into the circle of his free arm, wide eyes on the flames shooting up through the oak logs Outside twilight was moving in a cold spring wind in its wake The leafless arms of the nearest tree rubbed fretfully against the house, the fire crackled—"Happy?" inquired Norman, contentedly.

"Perfectly"

'Wish this could go on forever' he mused, 'no more outside influence Sounds archaic, maybe but I believe there's a primitive need in every man for a home of his own, y'know the kind of a need that forces him to go out and make good in business like——"

"Like the caveman in the forest made good with his billy club?" inquired Judith

"Judy, you're laughing at me"

"No I'm not. I'm just thinking how nice it is to be your particular woman, to say nothing of living in such a cave'

"I like this cave too," he said, boyishly possessive.

She knew he had had but little home life, as Clia had said "Plenty of house and nobody in it.'

He settled back again, and then into their peaceful moment came the whirr of the telephone. Judith, not wanting to listen, couldn't help hearing a few words and was ready for something unpleasant by the time he returned.

'Jude—' under the brave scarlet coat his shoulders were sagging, 'I forgot to tell you, Lampere has called a meeting of stockholders and the board of directors for the company, tomorrow at three. He wants you there"

She nodded She remembered dimly that Poppy Neville was giving a one o'clock luncheon and she had promised to help. Would she have time to change? She shouldn't go to such a meeting in a ruffled silk suit and Dolly Varden hat

"Judith," Norman interrupted her thoughts, "I'd promised myself I wouldn't discuss this Bevins matter with you, but you're my wife and I can't let you go to that meeting unprepared I want you to know what other people know.

"Judy-girl, I wonder if you realized that Big Tom had been losing his mind during the last few months of his life, in fact that he had a serious brain affliction at the time he drew up that new will?'

Judith jumped from the encircling haven of her husband's arm.

"Norman,' she cried

"There, Judy don't take it like that It was bound to be a shock to you, I know, but I thought it was better for me to tell you than someone else'

"Norman," she repeated, this time brokenly

"Yes dear it probably came from sort of a belated sun-stroke. You remember how we suffered on that trip? Why, healthy as I am, there were times when I nearly went under It seems Big Tom stood up while he was actually on the job, but the moment he got back home where he could relax, the whole thing came down on him like a ton of brick"

"What do you mean?"

"If you'll remember Judy he had a slight stroke the day after his return From then on he began to grow queer. Everybody in the legal department noticed ... what's the matter?"

Judith stood before him, eyes narrowed, body rigid with emotion

'So that's what they're saying!" she began in the low voice Norman had come to recognize as one of anger 'the . the cads Listen Norman Dale, you go to Lampere and tell him he's the lowest kind of a liar there is, the kind who will try to destroy the reputation of a man who can't defend himself'

'Judith, will you listen to reason?"

"To reason gladly, where is it?"

Norman's dark eyes were glowing in the firelight his chin had jutted forward with Scotch stubbornness —'you'll admit he kept you working all night the night after his stroke Was that an evidence of sanity"

'After what you've just said Norman, it was evidence of more than sanity...it was sheer genius Only a man facing death could have had the foresight to do what Big Tom Bevins did that night'

"I suppose that you, a twenty-four-year-old——"

'Mateel calls me an office girl,' supplied Judith bitterly.

'Leave Mateel out of this,' snapped Norman

"Try to leave her out' laughed Judith, "You were saying, that a twenty-four-year-old office girl 'presumes' is the next word isn't it."

"Alright . . . presumes to know more than brilliant tried and proven engineers and lawyers'

"That's what you really believe" she said with sudden conviction then Norman do you see what this is doing to us?"

"It needn't' he replied arose and walked to the door 'as long as Lige is taking the week off, instead of the day I'll have to go down and look at that furnace'

Judith walked slowly upstairs undressed mechanically and slid into bed She felt exhausted The quick exhilaration of anger had burned out leaving her numb.

Down to the west the full moon began its ascent blocked by the oak tree before the window Slowly it eased into view, seemingly climbing from limb to limb

Norman would come up, they would talk it over and regret their flurry of temper He would come up before the moon reached the limb with the queer hump. But it flattened its silver surface against the filigree of topmost boughs and sailed on into the clear blue, with no sound from below

Judith was asleep when Norman hair rumpled, eyes blinking even in the soft glow of the bed lamp, did appear She didn't see him stand and stare down at her a baffled, troubled look on his face. Even had she seen the look, she couldn't have known how much like a child she appeared to the man

In deference to her new dignity as a matron she had let her hair grow and it lay spread in becoming

HOLTZENDORFF THREATENED FOR GIVING EVIDENCE

Wright Says He Thinks Witness Not In Danger.

Close on the heels of the wholesale dismissal of capitol janitors who are expected to testify against Land Commissioner Harry Conklin and his co-defendants in the criminal actions pending as a result of the investigation of the land commissioner's office, Assistant Attorney General William Wright Wednesday night revealed alleged attempts recently to intimidate another witness.

The witness, Howard Holtzendorff, University of Nebraska law student now employed in the state banking department, recently received three threatening telephone calls, Wright said. Holtzendorff testified against Conklin at his preliminary hearing last week when he was bound over to the District court for trial on a charge of perjury, growing out of an alleged collection racket practiced on capitol janitors during the past year.

Warned Not Testify Again.

Holtzendorff, Wright said, was warned not to take the witness stand again, and was warned that he would be "blasted off" if he did. Wright also said that on two occasions, mysterious strangers have attempted to see Holtzendorff, but he was not at home each time.

According to the assistant attorney general, Holtzendorff's father reported that a man, claiming he was a private investigator, called in connection with the affidavit young Holtzendorff gave the attorney general. At another time, three men called, but the object of their visit was not learned, Wright said.

Two Others Threatened.

Attorney General Paul Good said two of the state's witnesses received threatening telephone calls shortly after the perjury charge was filed against Conklin early last month. At that time, Good declined to reveal the names of the witnesses.

Wright, in discussing the alleged intimidation attempts, said he was convinced, however, that the state's witnesses will not be harmed. He said it appears that an attempt is being made merely to frighten them.

Red Cross Official To Assist In Giving Life Saving Tests Here

Robert F. Eaton, representative of the Red Cross headquarters at St. Louis, will arrive in Lincoln on April 12, to assist the local chapter in its life saving examination work, according to an announcement Wednesday by C. F. Schwarz, chairman of the life saving service of the local group.

During his visit, Mr. Eaton will qualify new life saving examiners and will give tests to local swimmers who have already successfully completed the examiner's course. During the past year, 93 juniors and 29 adults passed life saving tests under local Red Cross examiners. Mr. Schwarz called attention to the fact that 6,200 persons lost their lives by drowning in 1931, and that the Red Cross program was designed to cut that figure down.

The exact time and place for the annual test will be announced at a later date, Mr. Schwarz said. Tentative plans call for a review to be held at Lincoln high pool.

End of Insull Run

Here is the route which was being followed by Samuel Insull aboard the Greek freighter Malotis when he was arrested by Turkish authorities at Istanbul.

Four Killed in Iowa Collision

TAMA, Ia., April 5—(AP)—Four persons were killed and four slightly injured in a head-on collision between an automobile and a truck on U. S. highway No. 30 about 12 miles west of here about 2 a. m. today.

The dead:

Raymond A. Brush, about 37, Chelsea.

Burnell Brush, 19, Chelsa.

Richard Kaloupek, 18, Chelsea.

Gladys Polka, 17, Chelsea.

Otis Smith and Ray Wernimont, truck drivers of Auburn, Ia., were only slightly injured. Mrs. Raymond Brush and Ruth Wilkinson, 19, daughter of Ray Wilkinson of Chelsea, received minor injuries.

The passengers in the Brush car were returning from a dance at Marshalltown, Ia., while the truck was returning to Auburn from Jefferson, Wis., with a load of barley.

Although the cause of the accident was not immediately learned, officials believed that the collision occurred in a heavy fog that has enveloped Iowa for two days.

St. Edward—First State, 5 per cent, 633; total to date, 51.6 per cent, $53,$20.

LINCOLN HIGH NOTES.

The identity of a Cinderella and Prince Charming, who have been elected by a popular vote of the student body, will be disclosed at the annual joy night presentation, sponsored by the student council, to be held in the high school auditorium April 20 and 21. The fourteen act program is to be a variety entertainment centered around the theme of the Cinderella at the ball.

According to Miss Helen Dunlap, council sponsor, several kinds of acts are to be included, which have never been used in a joy night before. Louise Magee has been chosen business manager of the production. Si Parks and Lewis Anderson are advertising and property managers, respectively.

Attack on Jews Is Being Probed

Congressman McFadden's Name is Brought Into Investigation.

BOSTON, April 5—(AP)—Federal agents today had under investigation the alleged dissemination of a purported congressional address by Representative Louis T. McFadden of Pennsylvania attacking international Jewish bankers.

Alexander Brin, Jewish newspaper publisher, yesterday asked U. S. Attorney Francis J. W. Ford to investigate possible violation of McFadden's franking privilege in the alleged dissemination.

Brin also turned over to Ford other allegedly anti-Semitic literature. This matter, however, was sent in mail for which postage was paid.

Brin said the envelopes had been received with a Muscatine, Ia., cancellation. Some of the postage paid envelopes, he said, bore the following rubber-stamped inscription: "C. F. Fulliam, director of propaganda intelligence service. Crusaders of Economic Liberty, 320 East Ninth street, Muscatine, Ia."

Fulliam, in Muscatine, denied he had sent literature of his organization through the mails in an envelope bearing the postal frank of McFaden. Fulliam said he had often mailed literature of the organization but that it had carried full postage.

Stomach Photography

Importing Refined Sugar

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

This would interest the late George Eastman, made forever famous by the fact that after you had pushed the button, he did the rest. A camera has been made so small that it can be introduced into the stomach, to take photographs of conditions there. It takes 16 pictures at once, with an exposure of one 120th part of a second, by flashlight and air is pumped into the stomach to keep the stomach lining away from the camera lens.

Man, apparently, can do whatever he needs to do.

Do you see any good reason why taxpayers of the United States should build in Moscow a home for the American ambassador, to cost one million dollars? That is the plan at present. It is an excellent idea to recognize Russia, but a foolish idea to set the Russians a bad example by spending a million dollars on labor to be done in Moscow.

If we have an extra million for labor, why not spend it in the United States, where plenty of men in the building trades need work, and many Americans are ready to sell building materials. Some senator might inquire about that.

Congress is invited earnestly, to consider the Jones-Costigan sugar bill, now up for consideration, and what it means.

Under this bill, foreign countries, where sugar is grown, would be allowed not only to sell the raw sugar to the United States, but also to do the refining, the labor on it, before it comes here.

Under the Jones-Costigan bill, foreign labor would manufacture and send into this market as much sugar as is consumed by 12 million, three hundred and seventy-five thousand Americans. Thanks to importations of refined sugar, refineries have closed in Baltimore and elsewhere, and American workers have been discharged, because the work that they did in this country for good wages is being done in tropical and sub-tropical sugar-growing countries at miserably low wages.

This country offers the world's greatest market for raw sugar, and sugar-growing countries outside of the United States should be content to sell the raw sugar here, not insist on doing the manufacturing closing American refineries, forcing American workers into the Unemployed ranks.

Refined sugar should be taxed so highly as to keep it out entirely, reserving the manufacturing, refining work for Americans, and raw sugar should be taxed sufficiently to give adequate protection to the cane and beet sugar growers of the United States.

The French worry about the possibility of revolution, and are searching, for weapons, houses of socialists and royalists supposed to be armed for revolution, starting at opposite ends of the social ladder. The French know about revolution. They had one, and many noble heads were chopped off in a short time, although the number beheaded during the "terror" was not as great as the number executed in London during the same year for petty theft.

Price Boosts Announced by Auto Makers

DETROIT, April 5—(AP)—Leading units of General Motors corporation joined in the upward movement of automobile prices, with announcements of increases Wednesday. The increases, forecast some time ago with the increase in raw materials costs and also in wages in both the steel and automotive industry, followed similar boosts by four other companies last Monday.

The increases effective immediately, are by Pontiac, with a $20 rise on all models; Chevrolet, $25 and $30 on passenger cars and $20 on commercial cars and trucks; Buick $65 to $130 on various types and Cadillac with $100 on La Salle models to $300 on the larger models of Cadillac.

Olds Motors, another General Motors unit, also announced an increase of $35 to $65 on its six and eight cylinder types.

Monday's increases were by the three Chrysler units, Plymouth, Dodge and Chrysler, and the Studebaker corporation.

Coincident with announcement of the price increase, the Chevrolet Motor Company has reported its March output aggregated 110,266,000 and trucks, the largest March of 1929, and a jump of 285.1 per cent over the March output a year ago.

Henry Ford's Comment.

NEW YORK, April 5—(AP)—Dow, Jones & Co., in a copyrighted interview with Henury Ford at Detroit Wednesday, quoted the manufacturer as saying that "neither higher wages nor increased material costs" could force the Ford company to raise prices on its cars.

"I have found," Ford said, according to the interview, "that higher wages do not mean increased costs, and if our material prices go too high we will start making our own.

"We are making a part of everything we use and from this nucleus can readily expand to take care of any or all of our requirements, if necessary."

The Ford Motor Co., said the Detroit dispatch to the agency, is operating in the black on present costs. It continued:

"'When prices go up business goes down,' was Henry Ford's comment on the present price situation."

Bryan Biography To Be Reviewed Sunday By A. L. Weatherly

Bryan and World Peace, the title of a book published at Smith college, will be the subject of A. L. Weatherly's sermon at the All Souls Unitarian church next Sunday morning.

The review of the book will be of a two-fold interest to Lincoln people. Dr. Weatherly believes, since it is the only book which shows William Jennings Bryan as a real statesman, and it was written by Prof. Merle Curti, husband of the former Margaret Wooster, a University of Nebraska graduate who is now head of the psychology department at Smith college. Mrs. Curti's father was Charles Wooster, who was a well known Nebraska resident.

"The biography is the best one I have seen," Dr. Weatherly stated. "While it shows only one phase of Bryan's character it masterfully evaluates his services to his country and to mankind. It brings out fully his leadership in the world peace movement which alone entitles him to a place high in the ranks of statesmanship. It is authentic and is written by a man regarded as a distinguished American historian."

MINERVA'S MAIL

Take Your Troubles To Minerva

Enthusiasm Needed.

Nothing great is accomplished without enthusiasm.

Zest for life and for your own particular job is an all-important asset for success and for happiness.

Frequent letters are received from young people who have lost, or mislaid, this quality of enthusiasm. One today is from "John," who writes that his job is monotonous, uninteresting and far beneath his abilities, as a result of which he is morose, dispirited and discouraged.

Whatever the job, it will take on a new aspect if one can work up enthusiasm for it.

If you are forced to work at uncongenial employment, make friends with your job and it will make friends with you. No honest job is a disgrace unless a man disgraces it through a shamefaced, apologetic attitude toward it. Any work well done is an honor to the doer.

The attitude is important. If you make yourself realize that your job of the moment, however mental, is of importance, it will gain importance in the eyes of others.

To a young man just starting out on his own, it is imperative that he develop confidence, courage, creative ability and will-power, all of which are dependent upon enthusiasm for his particular job at hand.

Fate Intervened.

Dear Minerva: I have fallen in love with a man who is not the marrying kind.

I was warned about him in the early stages of our friendship. Others told me never to take him seriously, because he is a confirmed bachelor and an experienced flirt. But he always seemed so sincere and darling that I did not heed the warnings.

I have been going out with him for almost a year. He has shown me a marvelous time and has always been so considerate and tender and gentle. Two weeks ago, we were in an automobile wreck, which happily proved to be serious to no one. We were all badly frightened and shaken up. In the excitement of the moment, I clung to him and told him that he meant more to me than anyone else in the world or anything else in life.

He called on me twice after the accident, bringing flowers. Since that he has not communicated with me. I am broken-hearted. I know that he is frightened away because of my avowals of love. I do love him with all my heart, but I wish I had not told him so. I'd rather have his indifferent companionship than never see him. What I can do? Can I write to him and tell him I understand how he feels and that I want to continue our old friendship? Or would that do any good? I'm so distressed and unhappy.—FAN.

A. Don't write to him, my dear. Get control over yourself, and be thankful that a crisis in your relations was precipitated as it was. You are young. You want love that will bring to you the fulfillment of your womanhood — marriage, a home, children. You do not want to throw away your youth and opportunities upon a man who wishes to live a selfish life, who has no intentions of ever returning the love which you lavish on him. Fate has shown you definitely what you refused to believe from other people. Fight your battle now, gain self control. Eventually you will be glad of the strength that enabled you to give him up without making a futile appeal for what you know will never bring you lasting happiness. Sumon your self respect and pride to the rescue.

Disturbing Factors.

Dear Minerva: I am president of a social group of women. I am sorry to say that quarreling and back-biting and dissension has entered the ranks, threatening to destroy the club. Two women are entirely responsible for this state of affairs. They are jealous of each other, and therefore do everything they can to influence the other women on their side.

Now should I, as present leader of the group, bring the matter up in executive meeting and suggest that these women be asked to resign? Or should I ignore the fracas and try to patch things up as best I can without taking any definite action.

I am one of the newer members in the organization, which has existed for many years. Although I am president, I do not feel free to make too many suggestions. Yet I feel responsible, and know that conditions are worse than they ever were before. What can I do about it?—Mrs. G. K.

A.—Why not call the two women into a private conference with you? Appeal to their personal pride and interest in the organization, and ask them to be bigger than to let individual prejudice ruin the peace of the organization as a whole. Ask for their co-operation. Place them each at the head of some committee carrying definite responsibilities, and thus divert their interest from petty squabbling into accomplishing something for the good and pleasure of all. If you are tactful yet firm and direct, I believe you can divert a crisis through such a direct approach.

Answered Briefly.

Charles: It often pays to follow your hunches. You have an instinct against trusting this friend, though no evidence to account for this feeling of distrust. I'd say to follow your hunch and go very slowly in making any confidences to him or trusting him with financial responsibilities. Say nothing to him, or others, of your feeling, but play safe.

Maybelle: Accept the invitation for a week's recreation and rest. Leave the children in competent hands and feel entirely justified in doing so. You will be a better mother for taking care of yourself and you evidently need just the vacation which has been offered to you by your sister-in-law.

Morgenthau Says Exchange Offering Will Go Over Well

WASHINGTON, April 5—(AP)—Secretary Morgenthau said today the first 24 hours indicated the treasury's exchange offering of a billion in 10 to 12 year 3 1-4 per cent bonds "will go over very well."

Morgenthau said the treasury has cash on hand to retire the called Fourth Liberties due April 15 and notes due May 2 which are not offered in exchange for the new bonds.

Morgenthau urged Fourth Liberty bond holders to examine their bonds to see whether they were in the called series. Those which are due April 15 have serial numbers ending with the digits 9, 0 or 1. Those with 9's are preceded with the letter J, serial numbers ending in 0 are preceded by K, and those ending in 1 are preceded by A.

The exchange offering of new bonds is limited to the billion in 4¼ Liberties and the $244,234,600 in 3 per cent notes.

West Lincoln Approves Sunday Shows, But No Movie House in Sight

The incorporated village of West Lincoln which borders the S. Y. A. highway about three miles northwest of Lincoln now permits Sunday shows but it has no place in which films can be shown.

C. L. Meyers, mayor of the village, explained the situation.

"Several parties have made inquiries as to the possibility of having Sunday movies out here and the petition which placed the issue on the ballot at our municipal election Tuesday was an outgrowth of those inquiries," he said.

The voters approved the resolution for Sunday movies by a 68 to 35 vote and now, according to Mayor Meyers, it remains for someone to erect a building in which to house the shows. Whether the inquiring parties decide that such an investment would be profitable is still a matter that remains doubtful, he said.

He described the election as "a spirited contest in which voters maintained their views individually, since no organized groups campaigned either for or against the movies as a unit."

Will Spargo was elected justice of peace, and S. J. DeShayes and John Brown were elected trustees. Sam Way and Leo Christensen tied for election as members of the board of trustees and Mayor Meyers told The Star they would probably flip a coin to see who gets the job.

disorder on her pillow. Her eyes were tear stained.

Her body, fuller now and healthily pink, due to Delphy's untiring care lay clad in maize yellow pajamas, one foot and one arm hanging over the edge of the bad. Carefully Norman moved them back, pulled the covers high, then went to the chair before the window.

They spoke quietly at breakfasst, the apprehensive Delphy and Lige hovering around like two solicitous black birds.

"Shall I call at Neville's for you?" Norman asked as he was leaving.

"No" Judith answered, "as long as you belong to the firm retained by the Bevins women, it would be less embarrassing for you if I come as Bog Tom's stenographer rather than your wife."

"Just as you say," He kissed her and left, and Judith felt an unreasoning desire to weep because he hadn't insisted upon standing by her through the coming ordeal.

Judith was afterwards to wonder how she managed to live through Poppy's luncheon. Her beruffled frock of dark bluish green, and pert, small hat, won the heary approval of Poppy's guests.

"Look as though you'd been clipped from the top of a candy box," one guest remarked.

She thought of this later, for she hadn't had time to rush home and change and was forced to attend the board meeting in her party frock, and there was small comfort in the smartness of her ensemble as she saw universal disapproval in the faces of the men gathered there.

Even the courage inspired by Judge Morgan, who accompanied her, was dimmed by the sight of Mathile Bevins in deep mourning at one end of the table flanked by Morton Lampere on one side and by her husband, Norman Dale.

Preliminaries over a meeting of the stockholders was called and Lampere, their elected chairman arose.

"Mrs. Dale," he began, "prior to your coming the board of directors held a closed meeting. They came to a conclusion about a very vital matter and wish to lay it before you for a decision, are you ready to hear it?"

REJECTED SUITOR KILLS IOWA GIRL AND THEN HIMSELF

MAXWELL, Ia., April 5—(AP)—Vivian Richardson, 17, was shot and killed early today by an unsuccessful suitor, Vernon Lane, 34.

Lane then turned the gun on himself. He died several hours later in a sanatorium at Nevada.

Coroner D. G. Mills pronounced the double death a murder and suicide and said no inquest would be held.

Diehl Richardson, father of the dead girl, said she had refused Lane's attentions several times but last night had consented to go out with him. The couple left the Richardson home early in the evening, he said.

Early this morning the father said he was awakened by a shot. Outside the house he found his daughter dead in Lane's car and Lane wounded and dying. A revolver was nearby.

This Spring Buy GOODYEARS and get Blowout Protection that lasts!

EVERYONE knows that a well-made new tire is safe from blowouts—the danger comes later in its life, usually from weakened cords under a worn tread.

The question to ask, therefore, is: how safe will the tires be after the first few months?

Here's the answer when you buy Goodyears built with patented Supertwist Cord in every ply:

TIRE MILEAGE	ORDINARY TIRE CORDS	SUPERTWIST TIRE CORDS
8,000	82% as strong as new	93% as strong as new
16,000	36% as strong as new	81% as strong as new
24,000	no longer serviceable	62% as strong as new

(Per cents are averages of many tests of other tires vs. Goodyears under equal operating conditions)

These figures check with the experience of the public which finds Goodyears stand up longest and so buys millions more Goodyears than any other tire.

Since you pay no premium for Goodyear Tires, start this Spring to drive with their long-lasting safety under all your wheels. Let us demonstrate Supertwist Cord and quote you on a set of the type most economical for your driving!

EXPECT QUICK SUGAR ACTION

Hawaii Protests; May Demand Statehood If Act Passes.

WASHINGTON, April 5— (AP) — The compromise Jones-Costigan sugar control bill, designed to cut the supply nearer the limits of America's sugar bowl, appeared on the way today to quick senate approval.

The measure would not be passed, however, if heed were paid to the protests from Hawaii. Quickly reacting to house passage of the bill, which, in parcelling out allotments, takes no notice of Hawaii's demands for equal treatment with mainland sugar producers, Delegate McCandless of the islands began today drafting a measure demanding Hawaii become the 49th state of the union.

Planters Threaten Suit.

McCandless' action closely followed a vigorous attack made by John Waterhouse, president of the Hawaiian Sugar Planters association.

Legal counsel of the association said that the bill, if passed, would go to the supreme court for challenge. They contended it is unconstitutional to give fixed sugar quotas to mainland producers and deny them to Hawaii.

Chairman Harrison of the senate finance committee said today he would call a meeting to act on the bill in a few days, and predicted early approval.

Costigan Sees No Opposition.

Senator Costigan, who introduced the original sugar measure in the senate, said he knew of no major opposition to the house bill and predicted its approval by the senate early next week.

Costigan set April 15 as the deadline for the measure.

As it was approved by the house without even a record vote, the measure allows domestic beet sugar producers to market 1,550,000 tons, or 100,000 more than originally proposed. Sugar cane producers would be allowed 260,000 tons. Various allotments would be made for the Philippines, Cuba, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Corn Warehousing Inspections Near End In Nebraska

With warehouse inspection applications dribbling in at the rate of less than 20 a day, the federal corn loan program in Nebraska apparently is at an end to all practical purposes. Railway Commissioner Hugh Drake said that only 17 applications were received Tuesday and 10 Monday, compared to the several hundred that poured in daily when the program was at its peak.

All but two of the 23 extra employes hired to handle the rush applications have been dismissed and the six regular commission employes transferred temporarily to the corn loan work have been returned to their regular jobs.

Drake, who was put in charge of the work, said a complete audit of the commission's corn loan records will be ready shortly after the campaign closes officially April 30. He said the audit will show a balance of about $125,000 from fees collected from farmers for warehouse inspections over and above fees paid the inspectors and other expenses incidental to the work.

DANDRUFF Ends Overnight!

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely, and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring, using enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It won't cost you more than thirty-five cents (35c). This simple remedy never fails.—Adv.

Corporation Formed Here With U. S. Title May Have Change Name

The name of "United States Cooperative Credit association," chosen by the sponsors of a newly organized business enterprise in Lincoln whose articles were filed Wednesday in the secretary of state's office, may have to be changed because of federal regulations against using the official government title for private business, particularly any line related to banking and investments.

C. A. Sorensen, former attorney general of Nebraska, and his law partner, L. R. Newkirk, who was his assistant in that office, are the chief organizers of the association, capitalized at $10,000. The articles specify that one of its activities will be to aid persons desiring to form credit associations, unions, or banks and render service to such institutions.

Nebraska Finance Co., Grand Island, is the name of another new corporation, capitalized at $10,000. B. F. and Permella L. Douthit are its originators.

DR. CALHOUN TO CHICAGO.

Dr Paul Calhoun left Wednesday night for Chicago where he will attend a conference of the commission of evangelism of the Presbyterian church. Interesting Events Ahead For Weekend

Mrs. Earl Elder, Visitor From Egypt, Will Be Sunday Guest.

THE social merry-go-round, while not so giddy as it could be, has things in store for the weekend.

Mrs. Earl Elder of Cairo, Egypt, who is visiting in Omaha, and who, before her marriage was a member of the home economics faculty at the University of Nebraska, comes to Lincoln on Saturday. Sunday, together with her Omaha hostess, Mrs. George Tunison, she will be a dinner guest at the home of Chancellor and Mrs. E. A. Burnett.

Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Miss Margaret Fedde will entertain a group of Mrs. Elder's friends at a tea in her honor at her apartment.

AND WHO SHOULD BE coming to town April 23, but Eva La Gallienne, herself in person, in "Hedda Gabler." In a choice between "Hedda Gabler," and the "Master Builder," the local manager, Mrs. Walter Gardner, chose the former because she considered it more interesting to a general audience. The "Master Builder" which is to be shown in Omaha, April 24, is a sociological play, while "Hedda Gabler" is one personality.

WHAT QUEER THINGS our friend Stokowski, director of the Philadelphia Symphony orchestra is doing these days First he insists upon putting the Red Anthem, "The Internationale' on one of his programs, and now he has taken to saw horses for comfort in directing.

Last evening during an orchestra rehearsal, everything was going smoothly with the Beethoven Ninth Symphony, so the story goes— that is smoothly with everyone except the temperamental conductor. He, finally with a wave of his baton, silenced the group and called to his valet and man of all work.

"Teddy."

"Yes."

"Bring me the horse."

"The mule?"

"Yes."

Teddy was gone only a moment and when he returned he carried a wooden saw horse equipped with a shiny new English saddle. Stokowski deliberately placed a foot in the stirrup and mounted the horse.

"Now," he said, "I feel more comfortable."

And on went Beethoven's Ninth Symphony, Stokowski riding stiffly through andantes and allegros.

NOW EATS ANY KIND OF FOOD, AND NO CONSTIPATION

Mr. Durigan Finds Relief in Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Here is his enthusiastic letter:

"Am 70 years of age, and for 40 of these years there never was a week but what I had to take a pill or some kind of cathartic.

"I took everything, but gained only temporary relief. Until last spring my daughter, who is a nurse in a hospital, brought me some Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

"At the end of the week, I knew I had something that was it, and I kept on taking it. I haven't taken a cathartic since. I can eat meat any time, as often as I like, or any other kind of food, and no constipation." Mr. L. M. Durigan, 6811 Buffalo Ave., Jacksonville, Florida.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to help muscle tone. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the intestinal wastes.

How much safer than patent medicines. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in serious cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Sold in the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

AMERICAN LOANS TO DEFAULTING NATIONS BARRED

House Passes Johnson Bill: Given Approval By Administration.

WASHINGTON April 5— INS—Congress closed the door today to any further borrowing in the United American investment market by those countries which are in default of their debt payments to the United States treasury

France Belgium and several of France's continental allies are affected

While the status of those countries like Great Britain and Italy which have made "token" payments is not exactly clear, the presumption is that they will not be barred In accepting the token payment from Britain President Roosevelt said he did not consider the withholding of 90 per cent of the amount due to constitute default

The medium of closing the door to defaulters was the Johnson bill which the house passed last night President Roosevelt will sign it upon his return from Florida Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau has already announced the administration approves the purpose and intent of the bill It is in fact already in force Morgenthau a week ago denied a group of New York bankers permission to participate in a syndicate loan to France

Russian Debt Situation.

The state department assured inquiring legislators that no American capital would be sent Russiaward until a satisfactory agreement had been reached on the Russian debt

Negotiations for the settlement of the Russian debts are now proceeding simultaneously in Washington and Moscow. They are in fact, the only debt negotiations of any character that are proceeding, save in the case of little Finland the only debtor country to have met its obligations in full In recognition of that fact the Finnish debt is to be ameliorated

The British negotiations have bogged down France and the other defaulters have not approached this government with any proposals either for revising existing agreements or for 'curing' the defaults The whole foreign debt situation save for the Russian and Finnish negotiations, is at a standstill

BUCHAREST Rumania April 5—(AP)—A court today acquitted 46 persons accused of complicity in the assassination of the late Premier Ian Duca sentencing three more to life imprisonment for the crime

The actual killer Nicholas Constantinescu, and his two confederates all three alleged members of the iron guard, were the three given life

Cornellu Codreneu the leader of the iron guard and the so-called Hitler of Rumania, was among those freed of guilt

POPE CRITICISES GERMANY IN TALK TO 350 PILGRIMS

VATICAN CITY, April 5—(AP)—False Christianity and real paganism now are all that exist in Germany outside the Catholic churches Pope Pius told 350 young German pilgrims today

Speaking on the Christian life the pontiff said "the time has come when, particularly in Germany, it is no longer sufficient to speak of the Christian life or the Christian doctrine; it is necessary to say the Catholic Christian life, the Catholic Christian doctrine

"Outside of Catholicism there remains nothing Or better there remains not only false Christianity but real paganism"

Mencken Gloomy Over 'New Deal'

'Big Smash Coming Next Year When Bills Come in' Says Cynic.

NEW YORK April 5—(AP)—Henry L Mencken the sage of Baltimore and most famous cynic in America returned from a Mediterranean cruise today sufficiently refreshed to take right smart cracks at a number of things and pleasantly gloomy about almost everything

He said he was for a planned economy "if you can find somebody to plan it But as to the new deal he referred to it as the running of a ship by the ships barbers

'My private opinion is that the big smash is going to come next year when the tax bills come in when the people learn that the bills have to be paid

He shook his head "It's going to be a sad awakening"

Mencken visited Athens just after Samuel Insull, fugitive left there

He sighed 'Athens is ruined It has forgotten Socrates and now it has only Insull and he isn't there any more

He referred to recent exposes of power utilities influence upon legislatures as 'sport' and averred that prosperity had returned because he said 'the thieves are getting back —all the bogus war veterans are on the rolls again

He said that during the cruise in the Mediterranean he tried to convert several clergymen to Christianity but 'it can't be done"

He also took time out to take a crack or two at the humanists.

'All men are moral' he said "Their systems differ but universal opinion is agreed on the basic ideals The trouble with the humanists is they assume that if a man does not have their standard he has no standards at all"

Nearly All Republican Losers In '31 Campaign Expected to File Again

Practically every one of the former republican state officers who suffered defeat in the Roosevelt landslide two years ago will be back in the political ring this year attempting either to regain their old positions or to go further up the official ladder

Lee Metcalfe of Omaha former lieutenant governor is already in the field as a gubernatorial candidate and C A Sorensen ex-attorney general is expected to follow his lead in a short time While they were holding their executive stations at the capitol they were prevented by the constitution from running for any other office

Now Eligible To Run.

Now as private citizens each can indulge his ambition to achieve gubernatorial honors Dwight Griswold who was the republican nominee for governor two years ago is ready to contest with the two former state house incumbents

Then there are the two Marshes —Frank ex-secretary of state and George W former auditor who have given public notice that they will try for their old jobs Friends of Dr T W Bass former treasurer are positive he will go likewise As to Dan Swanson who gave up the office of land commissioner in January 1933 it is generally believed he too will essay a comeback having been encouraged by the turn affairs have recently taken affecting the incumbent of that office

Dort Not Expected In Race

The only candidate on the republican state ticket in 1932 not accounted for in this lineup is Lloyd Dort of Lincoln who ran for railway commissioner He is now regarded as out of politics

C A Randall chairman of the railway commission whose term expires next January said quite definitely a year ago that he was not going to be a candidate again but statesmen like women have the right to change their minds He has held the office 11 years

People Stared

She was so Fat!

But now they look in admiration . . . for she's as slender as an artist's model . . . without exercise, diet or drastic purgatives.

Be slim and be sought after. Be fat and be alone. Why be fat when it's so easy to get rid of excess weight by means of a tried and true corrective, known and recommended by physicians the world over? Many years ago medical science discovered that obesity—when an abnormal condition—is caused by the lack of an important element which the body normally supplies.

That element—which is the chief ingredient of Marmola—has since been prescribed to thousands of overweight women, with amazingly beneficial results. It is taken with their meals. They do not exercise, starve themselves, nor drain their systems with drastic purgatives. Yet day by day they have felt lighter, more alert, more energetic. Soon they find their weight satisfactory. The excess fat has simply slipped away, revealing the trim and slender figure underneath.

Sounds like a miracle, but thousands who have taken Marmola as directed—4 tablets a day—might well tell you it's a demonstrated fact. Since 1907, more than 20 million packages of Marmola have been purchased. Nothing succeeds like success. Marmola is put up by one of the leading medical laboratories of America.

Start today! You will soon experience Marmola's benefits When you have gone far enough, stop taking Marmola. And you will bless the day when you first discovered this marvelous reducing agent!

Marmola is on sale by all dealers —from coast to coast.

GET RID OF THAT DIRTY WINTER OIL

AN OIL GETS THIN and dirty even in a mild Winter. Using your choke more lets raw gas get into the cylinders to dilute it. And you are bound to suck in dirt on slushy roads.

What's more, the way cars are built today, your oil takes twice the punishment it used to. It's important to have a tough, clean film that won't thin out dangerously at extreme heat.

Mobiloil's the biggest selling oil in the world because it can "take" that multiplied punishment better.

It takes only a few minutes to drain your crankcase and refill with Mobiloil. Stop today at the Mobiloil sign—you'll find it everywhere. And for smoothest all-'round performance—look for the Mobilgas pump and fill your tank with the country's only gasoline with Climatic Control. White Eagle Oil Corporation, a Socony-Vacuum company.

Asserts Offenders Are Mostly Youths

Judge Polk Says That the Law Is Working at Wrong End Of Crime Problem.

From 70 to 80 per cent of all criminal offenders are boys between ages of 17 and 22 years, Municipal Judge John L. Polk told the Lions club at the chamber of commerce Thursday noon. "The government is spending great sums of money to care for dependents, the aged, the widows and others, but spending very little for our youth," Judge Polk said.

"More than two million young people become of age each year and the serious problem is what to do with them. At that age they are more energetic and ambitious than at any other time. They want to do something and there is nothing for them to do. Those brains are fertile breeding grounds then for radicalism and communism.

"The law is working at the wrong end. The law treats the disease but does not, cannot, reduce the infection. Prevention is what is needed." Judge Polk declared. He suggested that there be more suprvised playgrounds and that Parent-Teacher groups attempt to get 100 per cent membership, forming a perfect union between home and school.

Southeast Nebraska Has Bright Outlook For Fruit—Banning

Excellent prospects for an apple crop in southeastern Nebraska are seen by State Senator W. B. Banning of Union, who was at the capitol Thursday attending a session of the state fair board.

There will be some peaches, too, Mr. Banning said, contrary to the impression some time ago that all buds of this species of fruit had been killed by winter freezing. The younger trees are in good shape, he finds, and will make part of a crop, barring any further damage.

Cherries appear to be all right, and so far as present indications go grapes and berries will make normal yields, he thinks.

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES
Win Back Pep . . . Vigor . . . Vitality
Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. They should pour out thru the bladder 3 pints of fluid a day which contains 4 pounds of waste matter.
If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up nights, lumbago, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.
If kidneys don't empty 3 pints every day and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS . . . a doctor's prescription . . . which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes.
But don't take chances with strong drugs or so-called "kidney cures" that claim to fix you up in 15 minutes. Your common sense will tell you that this is impossible. Treatments of this nature may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS . . . the old reliable relief that contain no "dope" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

DEFICIT FEARS SHOWN BASELESS

State Treasurer Hall Points To Balance In Treasury.

With twice as much money in the treasury as there was a year ago, and the general fund cash balance also exhibiting a 100 per cent increase, State Treasurer Hall announced Thursday, in making public his report showing conditions at the close of March, that the deficit predicted in republican campaign literature before the election of 1932 is definitely out of the picture.

Total cash in all funds March 31, the treasurer's statement reveals, was $5,747,323, compared with $2,701,270 on the same date last year. When the books were closed for February this year, the aggregate cash stood at $4,576,323. The gain over a year ago was more than $3,000,000, and the increase from February was nearly $1,200,000.

The general fund alone boosted its reserve from $582,665 in February to $1,369,949 in March, due primarily to the new law advancing the delinquency date for real estate taxes from May 1 to March 1. Its balance at the end of March, 1933, was $675,020.

General fund receipts in March this year were $1,256,888, against $447,951 in the same month last year—almost three times as large. Payments, on the other hand, were smaller for March this year—$469,604 compared with $579,513 last year, when the legislative session increased current expenditures.

Still more striking is the gain in accumulated revenue from the gasoline tax, available for highway construction, which on March 31, amounted to $1,037,844, where only $291,119 was credited to the fund a year ago. The receipts in March were $741,501, against $477,477 last year.

One reason for the swollen cash total at this time is that the treasury has on hand about three-quarters of a million dollars more federal aid road money than at the corresponding time in 1933.

The temporary school fund has an accrued balance of $323,947, which will go into the next semi-annual apportionment in July. A year ago there was only $210,735 in this fund.

Grand total receipts of the treasury from all sources last month were $3,066,996, and disbursements came to $1,895,482. A year ago the gross income was $1,372,848 and the outgo $1,516,424.

HERE'S THE CHECK.

IN WASHINGTON, the senate is wrestling with the unpleasant problem of raising tax funds for the extraordinary expenditures of government, due to steps taken by the federal government to relieve destitution, and to other recovery measures.

It is not a pleasant job. The levying of higher taxes always arouses public resentment. But the need for additional revenue has been recognized for months, with an unbalanced national budget, and with demands upon the federal treasury to continue, in part at least, some of the activities which removed the sting of unemployment.

And so the senate is giving final consideration to the tax bill. The finance committee, of which Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi is chairman, proposes retention of the present flat normal income tax of 4 per cent, with surtaxes ranging from 5 to 59 per cent on twenty-nine brackets where the net income runs from $4,000 up to a million dollars annually. A considerable bloc, headed by Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, is supporting a proposal to increase the flat normal income tax rate from 4 to 6 per cent, which is exactly a hike of 50 per cent, and to apply surtaxes ranging from 6 to 71 per cent on net incomes, starting at $4,000 annually to in excess of a million. The present surtaxes range from one to 55 per cent. Senator Harrison's committee would raise them from 5 to 59 per cent, leaving the flat tax of 4 per cent unchanged. The La Follette plan would compel any and all now required to pay income taxes to contribute 50 per cent more than at present on all net income in excess of allowable deductions. In addition, the La Follette program would hike the surtaxes 5 per cent on the lowest bracket to 16 per cent on the highest bracket. It comes closely to approximating the rates now in existence in the British Isles, where the British people have been shouldering the highest tax burden of any of the larger nations.

THE British experience should be considered when the check for necessary and vital relief undertakings is being scanned. Great Britain has been at it a long time, due to a permanent pressing problem of unemployment. It started as unemployment insurance and still carries the name, but in the end it became known more generally as the dole. From an initial expenditure of 50 millions annually, back in 1910, the size of the check jumped to in excess of a billion dollars a year, which 44 million people bravely have paid each twelve months without whine or whimper. There isn't a single instance of greater national pride, or of governmental devotion on record, than the spectacle of the British people shouldering their burden. Along with it, were other demands. For example, when the nation's gold reserve was threatened, the appeal to turn in gold plate and all other gold possessions, was met wholeheartedly. The British income tax meant the gradual splitting up of the great landed estates, and it is to the credit of that British group which had looked upon its holdings as sacred and vested rights, that it submitted patriotically.

No such prospect is in store for America, at least for the present. It is true that a heavier burden will be placed upon wealth. It is true that the needs of caring for millions will mean in the end that those who possess substance will be required to contribute a portion of it to support those without either accumulation or work. That was inevitable. And that is the particular problem which congress and the White House must face. The bill must be paid and only those possessing means are in a position to meet it. Undoubtedly some here in America will read into the tax legislation proof of their fear of socialism or communism. Others will insist that business is burdened with such a heavy load that recovery is defeated. Still others will insist that actual confiscation may take place under the needs for more funds, and if continued long enough, all would be pauperized. The prospect is not so black as that nor as alarming. There is the possibility that the huge quick fortunes which appeared a few years ago will not be within attainment for many years to come. There is a practical certainty of a leveling in wealth. It is the price which capitalism must expect to pay for its existence as a plan for living.

THERE is a sizeable check to be paid. It isn't as large as it will be before the full responsibilities are met. But the outcries of those who criticise the extraordinary emergency expenditures should be accompanied with more than mere criticism. Just what do they propose shall be done about destitution and unemployment? Is it their idea that people, millions of them, should go hungry, lacking adequate clothing, miserable and cold? Whenever such a situation arises in America, there will be sound grounds for worrying about communism. The expenditures made were necessary to preserve American institutions. They had to be made, unless disorders and disturbances were to be welcomed.

The fight being made at Washington by the president is to retain American principles of government.

It can be effective only through a realization of the purposes and aims. The bill for the emergency measures necessary will have to be paid and congress and Mr. Roosevelt are concerned only with formulating a program to do it in accordance with sound business principles and a fair distribution of the burden.

The La Follette proposal affecting the normal income tax rate would place a heavy hand upon all tax payers. More particularly, it would affect people with moderate incomes, and would bear down upon the substantial small business man in the smaller towns and cities. The senate finance committee plan seems much more preferable.

BEEF AND STEERS.

ENCOURAGING news continues to pour in from widely separated industries. The weekly report on steel shows another upward trend until the national average is 48.5 per cent capacity. The result was forecast in sharply higher operating schedules in finishing mills.

From another sector, the Omaha Livestock market, reports Wednesday indicated the highest price for choice beef since 1932. The shipment of steers from A. M Hotony at Brainard brought $7.15 a hundredweight, or 15 cents a hundred higher than any price paid during 1932.

SECRET TRAFFIC CHECKS.

THE plan of the Omaha safety board for curbing violations of the traffic code seems to be one that might with profit be copied in Lincoln. The Omaha safety board consists of twelve members and each of these is to name six persons for secret service, thus making 72, who will be constantly on the alert for violators of the code.

When one of these secret workers sees any portion of the code being violated he will take the number of the car and report it to the police. The latter will notify the owner of the car and keep a record. After two such warnings the owner of the car will be required to answer in police court, to be there dealt with according to law.

This proposal seems eminently fair. It is obviously impossible to furnish a sufficient number of officers to detect all violators of the traffic rules, and the only way to overcome this difficulty seems to be to have private citizens who will take sufficient interest in the public safety to report violators so that they may be punished if they persist in their unlawful practices.

The great difficulty will of course be to get men and women willing to face the probable displeasure or enmity of those who might be complained against. For if prosecution should take place it would be necessary to call witnesses to the alleged violation. Without doubt, however, many could be found with the required interest and great good could be accomplished.

It has been demonstrated times without number that the only way to curb speeding and other traffic law violations is to adequately punish offenders of this character. And with the rapidly mounting death toll in Lincoln, as well as in other cities, it must be realized that drastic action is inevitable. Notwithstanding all of the work that has been done, and in spite of all the pleadings and warnings that have gone forth, there are apparently just as many violations now as there ever have been. Something must be done and it must be done quickly.

SECRETARY PERKINS ON STRIKES.

IF SECRETARY OF LABOR PERKINS was correctly quoted in belittling the effect of labor strikes as a deterrent to national recovery, her views on the subject are decidedly unique, to say the least.

At a time when the national administration is straining every nerve to bring about a peaceable settlement of disputes between employers and employes in large industries, some of which have threatened and still threaten to tie up production and distribution of basic commodities and manufactured products in general use, it seems illogical that a member of the president's cabinet should be pooh-poohing these efforts.

"There isn't a first class strike in America," she is quoted as saying. "Why do the American people get the jitters when the word 'strike' is mentioned? Is it so terrible that people leave work and refuse to come back until they get something they want?"

Her definition of "a first class strike" as reported in the same interview is "where the workers are perfectly organized and know exactly what they want and how to go about getting it without busting heads."

That would, indeed, be a very ladylike strike. It would be altogether different from the disturbances which took place not long ago in the coal fields of Pennsylvania and West Virginia, in which a number of men were killed and wounded by shooting and bombing tactics employed on both sides, as well as in numerous personal assaults which resulted from picketing activities.

If workers were "perfectly organized"—that is, if everyone employed belonged to the same union and the lineup was 100 per cent in support of its demands—possibly strikes could be carried on without serious outbreaks of violence. But what would Secretary Perkins say about a situation where two rival unions are engaged in deadly warfare against each other and employers cannot bring about a peaceful settlement by signing an agreement with either of them?

And even if a strike is conducted on the basis which she characterizes as "first class," what about its effect on the general public; the stoppage of employment in related lines where the employes are thrown out of work although they have no grievance; and the suffering which families of the strikers must endure while the heads are held in enforced idleness?

Aren't all these things sufficient to cause concern in the minds of the American people? And isn't the government justified in taking them seriously and using all its influence to make peace among the contending factions?

It would seem that with all the national administration is doing to help labor, strikes should be taboo at this critical time, and that the secretary of labor ought not to be countenancing them even by indirection.

WHO'S EQUAL NOW?

THE first ship flying the soviet flag entered an American harbor the other day.

A bustling communistic press agent welcomed American reporters and extolled the virtues of comradeship and equality on a Russian vessel. "Yes, sir," he said. "All men are equal on this ship. They do the same sort of work; they eat the same food and the captain has little, if any, authority over the crew. It's a co-operative afafir."

The press agent, like most of his stripe, overdid himself. He went on to tell about a bulletin board on which the crew posts any complaints it wants to make, and asserted that the captain had to note and answer the charges in his log, lest he be called to account when he returned to Odessa.

But the captain is not only a Russian but a sea captain. When reporters asked him about these matters, he exploded, "What! I give an explanation of my actions to the men! Say, I am the captain here. What kind of a ship do you think this is."

The captain scornfully rejected as "foolishness" any notions that everyone on shipboard is equal and that he must eat the same food as the crew.

It would be interesting to know how many other features of life in the soviet differ in actual practice from press agent versions.

JAR SOME CASH LOOSE.

THERE is an aspect to these rapidly mounting totals of bank deposits that seems to escape most public attention. Much talk dwells on the duty of banks to loan out these funds, but how about the people that are putting all this cash away?

In Lincoln, for instance, bank deposits in March reached the highest total in the city's history. That must mean that some people not only have comfortable balances but unusual reserves. Apparently, these people haven't fully recovered from depression philosophy. They are still hoarding in almost the same sense as if they were tucking wads of currency under the mattress.

These same people have desires for new homes, new cars, new household furniture and equipment. It should not be surprising if they should soon jar loose some of that extra cash for those purposes.

Lincoln bankers not only expect but hope that bank balances will be somewhat reduced this year. After all, banks, especially national banks, are strictly limited in loaning out money. Federal reserve rules exclude certain types of advances. The eligible borrowers have been trying to get rid of indebtedness rather than incur new obligations. So even the banks reach a stage of super-liquidity that provides impressive figures but means only stagnant business.

Every year in the past half dozen, housing surveys have shown a shortage of desirable homes in Lincoln. Now is the time to build. Other things are needed. Never was there a time when money put to work will do a better job for the spender as well as the community.

QUESTION.
Evanston, Ill.
Is there any book which contains to substance of the Bible?
ANSWER.

I think it is better to read the Bible itself rather than books about it. It is still honored and dear above every other. Its holy phrases are familiar and beloved as household words. They are on our lips in life's most sacred moments. Pronounced over the infant in baptism, hallowing the joys of wedded life and soothing the pain of the sick and suffering, their comfort and hope follow many of us through life and their echoes fall on our ears when we stand by the open grave of our beloved dead.

Journalists and essayists who make light of the Bible's divine authority nevertheless use its language to point their periods. Skeptics who deride its claims honor its ethics. Like the late Lord Morley, they may discard its revelation but they hang on to its moral sublimities. Although more Bibles are sold today throughout the world than ever before its contents are probably read less than at any time for generations past. Why is this?

The answer, briefly, is because those who neglect it no longer regard it as an infallible book. The old habit of bibliolatry has deeply wounded modern allegiance to the greatest human and religious literature the race possesses. It would be disastrous, however, if the abandonment of a false mechanical view of holy scripture's inspiration should continue to result in wide-spread ignorance of the noblest wisdom and spirituality in the world.

Since you desire what is known as a lectionary I suggest two: "The Heart of the Bible," by Jeanne B. Thompson Davies, in three volumes, and "The Bible Treasury," by J. C. Squire and A. E. Barker, with an introduction by the Archbishop of York, the latter, and the better book possibly for your purpose, being an anthology which gives selections from the book for daily reading.

QUESTION.
Glen Falls, N. Y.
How many religious parties are there in the German Protestant church?
ANSWER.

First, the one known as "the German Christians." They earnestly desire a more or less complete identification with Chancellor Hitler's program and the recovery of the lapsed industrial and intellectual groups to the Christian faith as they conceive it. They believe the churches are empty because stress has been laid on a formalistic and outworn theology.

They extol the spiritual endowments of the German race and declare that the center of gravity of the New Testament faith should be shifted from the east to the west. They insist that the moral strength of the world is found in the northern European peoples and that in harmony with their leading ideas Christ will enter upon a new sovereignty.

Second, the German Faith movement which despairs of the Evangelical church. Dr. Hauer one of its leaders declared in a speech at Stuttgart that believers should form a separate organization free of all the historic creeds A North German conception of God, resting on race consciousness must henceforth be made supreme. Of course, this is unadulterated Nazism projected into the universalism of Christ's religion.

Last, the real Evangelicals who contend for the faith once for all delivered to the saints, emphasize the permanent importance of the Old Testament lawgivers psalmists and prophets, and assert man's redemption by faith as the heart of Christianity. They are firm for the Divinity of the Redeemer, uphold the spiritual independence of His church, and see as they never saw before that all the verities involved are one organic whole. The Bible has had a new light thrown upon it. The church is known afresh as the guardian of the Gospel. The Kingdom of God it presents includes all states, nations and races These are the real disciples of Jesus, despite provincials, segementalists, Jew-baiters and Hitlerites, and Cardinal Faulbauher, of Munich, has indorsed their valiant stand.

QUESTION.
Bangor, Me.
Why do so many Christians feel it is their duty to urge people of other faiths to adopt their religion?
ANSWER.

Their zeal springs from an endeavor to live a fuller and richer life and the desire to place before others the benefits of such a life. Everything worth while usually has its earnest advocates. In fact, propaganda is essential to the extension of any type of culture religious or otherwise. So the impulse you mention is not restricted to Christians. It is a universal human trait.

Moreover, the nature of Christ's religion fosters the natural wish of His followers to spread good news by demanding that His gospel shall be heralded throughout the earth as God's program for mankind. That demand involves an obligation due to God as well as to our fellow men. The aggressiveness of the apostles and pastors of the early church was intensified by their glowing experience of the crucified and risen Redeemer. What He was and what He meant for the race at large were heralded abroad until the Greco-Roman empire was stirred to its depths.

When St. Paul was asked the question you have asked me, he replied that Christ's love constrained the efforts of His disciples. They were convinced that when He died for sin His disciples died to sin with Him, and that when He rose again they also ascended from the death of the former self in them to the life of a new self in Him.

You may call this mysticism beyond the average person's comprehension. But if you consult history you will learn that it built the church, rescued entire peoples from barbarism, mothered modern civilization and spread the saving knowledge of God in lands theretofore cursed by superstition, ignorance and fear. I think you will concede that in the light of human experience the motivation of Christian evangelization had and still has a reasonable basis and historic vindication.

Diet and Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D., Author of "THE HUMAN BODY"

PYELITIS SYMPTOMS MILD, WITH FEVER, NOT MUCH PAIN

A reader asks me if I will discuss the subject of pyelitis: its cause, its effects, treatment, and any information concerning the disease.

Dr Clendening

Pyelitis is an infection of the pelvis of the kidney. The kidney substance itself consists of an intricate mass of tubules, which secretes urine, and this drops into a vestibule which opens into the ureters, open tubes which carry the urine to the bladder. Sometimes due to obstruction, as in prostatic disease, germs enter and work their way upstream, like salmon in the spring, until they reach the pelvis of the kidney and cause pyelitis. Sometimes extreme constipation causes pyelitis because the lymphatic drainage of the large intestine enters directly into the pelvis of the kidney and will create infection.

The symptoms are mild. There is often a little fever and lassitude, usually not very much pain, and often the disease gets well without treatment.

The treatment which is productive of the best results is to give an antiseptic preparation, which excreted in the urine will kill off the germs which cause the infection at the very source. There are many substances of this kind, one being hexymethylamine. The best ones are dyes, such as acroflavine. Elaborate, expensive treatment usually is a mistake.

QUESTION.

"I get frequent attacks of sties in the eyes. Is there any way to prevent them?"

ANSWER.

It is frequently said that sties come from astigmatism, which can be corrected by glasses. The reason for this probably is that the patient's eyes become tired, and they are frequently rubbed with the fingers so that infection gets into the hair follicles. Naturally, prevention in a case of this kind would mean securing properly fitted glasses. It is also suggested that as a way of prevention the eyelids be touched lightly with a camel's hair brush which has been dipped in a solution of 10 per cent alcohol.

QUESTION.

"What causes my upper lip to swell? Without warning, except a hot feeling, it swells until it is much enlarged, extending way over my lower lip."

ANSWER.

The condition is called "angioneurotic edema" and is probably due to sensitization to some substance, such as a food or cosmetic preparation; perhaps to the emanations from an animal—that is, a cat, a dog or a horse, or perhaps to emanations from flowers.

BOOKS FOR SAILORS.

One man threw a book aside;
On a shelf, untouched it died.
"It has given joy to me,
But I'm done with it," said he.

As he put that book away
Useless on the shelf to stay
Said a sailor: "What I need
Is a book to sit and read.

For your idle time at sea
Books are pleasant company.
Wish that someone now and then
Would remember sailormen."
Books no longer wanted lie
Dusty on the shelves to die
When with pleasure they would be
Read by men who go to sea.

Did you know that women fair
Gather books from everywhere—
Books, whatever kind they be—
For the men who go to sea?

All around the world they go
On the decks and down below.
Read and read and read again
By the lonely sailormen.

Peter's Dreadful Discovery

It seems to be some people's fate
To always do their thinking late.
—Old Mother Nature

He was on an island. He was surrounded by water.

Peter Rabbit is one of these. He does things and then thinks about it afterward. And all too often he wishes he had done his thinking first. Just now Peter was watching the flood. It fascinated him and at the same time it frightened him a little. He was sitting not far from the edge of the rising water. The land was a little higher there than the rest of the Green Meadows immediately around. That is why Peter had gone there. He could see better. He couldn't see far, for it was evening and of course there wasn't much light, but he could see enough to be filled with awe.

He had sat there a long time heedless of anything but the rushing water out where the Big River should be. He hadn't even noticed that the water was rising nearer and nearer to where he sat until a little wavelet broke at his very feet. Startled he looked down.

"I guess," though he, "it is high time for me to go back."

He turned to go back the way he had come but made only a few hops before once more finding the water at his feet. Then he was frightened. He started to hop along the edge of the water seeking a place to go back and with every hop became more frightened. He began to race along and the first thing he knew he was back to the very place where he had sat so long. Right then he made a dreadful discovery. He was on an island. He was surrounded by water! While he had been sitting there the water had crept around that bit of higher land until it had entirely surrounded it.

Then Peter lost his head, as the saying is, and began to race this way and that way only to be stopped by the water. He was trapped. Yes, sir, Peter was trapped. There was no doubt about that. Several times he waded out into the water only to turn back when he found it so deep that he must swim. Peter can swim, but not for much of a distance and the trouble was he had no idea how far away dry land was. In fact he had become so confused that he didn't even know in which direction the nearest dry land lay and it wasn't light enough for him to see. Everything had been changed by the rising water. Nothing was familiar.

After a while Peter went back to the middle of his island and crouched down, trembling with fright and despair. What should he do? What could he do? Nothing. There was nothing to do. He could just crouch there and watch that dreadful water creep nearer and nearer. Little by little his island grew smaller.

"I'll be drowned," thought Peter, and he choked back a sob. "Oh, why did I come over here? Why wasn't I satisfied to stay at home? I'll never see Mrs Peter and the dear Old Briarpatch again, and I didn't have to come over here. I didn't have to come at all. I wonder how long it will be before the water reaches me here. Oh dear! Oh dear! I can't even try to do something."

Smaller and smaller grew the tiny island until there remained but a few feet above water. And then something wonderful happened. At least it was wonderful to Peter. The island grew no smaller. The water had stopped rising. Peter didn't know why it had stopped rising. It was enough for him that it had. It had stopped rising because it was night and colder. That meant that the snow back in the hills far away was not melting so fast and so there was less water running into the Big River. Peter began to have a little hope.

Hour after hour he sat there. All the long night he sat there. Every little while he looked to see if his tiny island was smaller and each time hope rose a little. It seemed as if daylight never would come. Perhaps with daylight he would find that he wasn't so badly off as he seemed to be. Perhaps he would find that there was land not too far away for him to reach by swimming. That was the worst night Peter ever had spent in all his life. At times he was filled with hope and at times he was wholly hopeless. Yes, sir, that was a dreadful night. What would the morning bring?

CONTRACT BRIDGE

How to Play and How to Win

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

GETTING THE MOST FOR THE TRUMPS.

John R. Coombs of Worcester, Mass., has one quality which is admirable in any bridge player, and that is he appreciates a joke on himself. The hand below is submitted by him as the most amusing hand he ever played, but he says his knowledge of the amusement was gathered from the reactions of his opponents and partner, although at the time the joke did not strike him as being so particularly brilliant.

The hand and bidding were:
South, dealer.
North and south vulnerable.

	♠ 5 ♡ K J 10 9 7 ◇ Q J 9 8 6 2 ♣ 8
♠ A 10 9 7 4 3 2 ♡ 8 ◇ A ♣ A J 6 5	North West East South	♠ — ♡ A 6 5 4 3 2 ◇ 10 7 4 3 ♣ 9 4 2
	♠ K Q J 8 6 ♡ Q ◇ K 5 ♣ K Q 10 7 3

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ◇	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	3 ♡	Pass
4 ♣	Pass	Pass	Pass

The bidding, of course, is distinctly ambitious for vulnerable players. South has an opening bid and north has a takeout, but somehow or other the brakes should have been put on before such a high contract was reached. Mr. Coombs and his partner, however, were reasonably fortunate in not playing the hand doubled.

West's opening lead was the ace of diamonds, after which he shifted to the singleton heart. East won, and returned a heart, and west ruffed. West then led the spade ace and followed with a small spade when east discarded. East trumped and returned a diamond, which west ruffed and returned another spade, which was trumped by east. East now returned a diamond, south played the king of trumps, and west won with the ace. One more lead of spades permitted east to cash his last trump, and now the return of a heart made west's trump knave good. The final result was that Mr. Coombs was down seven tricks or a total of 1750 points, east and west, with seven trumps, having cashed them all, as well as aces in three remaining suits.

Today's Question.

Today's Question

♠ 10 8 3
♡ 6 4 3
◇ A Q 8 6 4
♣ 6 2

	North
West		East
	South

♠ A 6 5 4
♡ A Q 5 2
◇ 5 2
♣ A K 7

South is playing a notrump contract. West leads the knave of hearts. How should south play?

Answer: Four tricks in diamonds, two in hearts, two in clubs and one in spades will give south game. He must, therefore, clear the diamond suit, and, to do so, wins the first heart trick in his own hand and leads a small diamond and plays low from north, no matter what west plays.

On getting in again, he leads another diamond, finesses, and, if successful and the adverse diamonds are equally divided, goes game.

He must not take the diamond finesse until the second round, as north has no entry card.

N. C. MARSHALL SURVIVES TREK THROUGH WILDS

the smashed plane because of the sanitary conditions resulting from the deaths of his companions.

Wanders Through Jungles.

He had wandered, it was reported, through the dense jungles ever since March 10

It was said that the plane was not completely destroyed and that it still contained the large gold cargo which had been destined for the government mint at Medellin

Scadta airline immediately dispatched a searching plane to determine definitely the truth of the report

Marshall, who is manager of the Choco-Pacific Mining Co., one of the largest platinum producing companies in the world, has a wife and four children.

Captain Geck was a veteran pilot with the Scadta company.

Further dispatches from Bolivar reported that Marshall was completely exhausted and almost unable to speak at the time he was found by Guaqueros, a primitive Indian tribe

He carried all his papers and passports, the report said permitting his identification.

Children Overjoyed.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 5—(AP)—Three sons and a daughter of Newton C. Marshall, students in Wisconsin schools, were overjoyed today to learn of the reported finding of their father alive after an airplane crash in the Andes, March 10.

The daughter, Alice, 14, is a student at Kemper hall, a girl's school at Kenosha, and the boys, Thomas, 12, James, 9 and Billy, 7, are at the Wyler school for boys at Evansville, Wis. All were attending classes today when word of their father reached them.

A sister of Marshall, Mrs. James T. Gibson of Racine, shared the joy of the children.

Marshall, a mining engineer, left Milwaukee about 18 years ago to go to Houghton, Mich., where he worked in the copper country for a number of years before going to South America.

sideration of the following proposals.

1. Set minimum prices for wheat exports;
2. Discourage government financial assistance, which depresses export prices;
3. Withdraw low qualities of wheat from human consumption by denaturing them and feeding to cattle and pigs;
4. Increase consumption of wheat by decreasing the percentage of flour extracted;
5. Permit future exports of denatured wheat as outside export quotas;
6. Campaign to better the quality of bread.
7. Cut wheat for hay and green fodder;
8. Make wheat more easily available to countries which at present use little of it;
9. Compensation in trade for wheat importing countries agreeing to reduce wheat acreage

Would Modify Agreement.

Various delegates also were prepared to bring before the meeting proposals to modify the export quotas agreement reached at the conference in London last August.

One proposal is to change the length of the quotas agreement from a year to three months, thus permitting more frequent adjustment of the quotas in conformity with changing supply and demand.

The commission met this morning in the economica room of the international institute of agriculture, with 35 delegates present. After an afternoon recess, they planned another meeting this evening.

Andrew Cairns of Canada, secretary of the commission, began the meeting by reviewing deliberations of previous meetings of the commission.

Afterwards, the question of reduction of acreage occupied the delegates. They exchanged views on what had been done in this direction in the different countries represented.

He has asked for 12 clerks and eight engineers for the water and light offices He requests 32 laborers and 8 foremen for the repair and correction of water valves and boxes

More Track Removal.

Resumption of operations on the B street storm sewer, may not start before Saturday, according to H. C. Schlueter, deputy city engineer. His request to the FERA office was for 155 laborers, six brick layers, two carpenters, the same number of iron workers, a superintendent, 8 foremen and 15 semi-skilled workers.

Mr. Schlueter expects Saturday to start 100 men on a resumption of car track removal projects.. The rail projects will include Tenth street from Vine to W; Ninth and P streets intersection; G street from Twentieth to Twenty-second street; J street from Seventh to Eighth; and Fourteenth street from High to Calvert.

E M Bair, head of the department, said that ten men were started Thursday morning crushing rock at the paving repair shops. Another crew was working on cutting back the curb at Fourteenth and South streets, and other men were cleaning out storm sewers and inlets. When this is completed they will start repairing asphalt paving in all sections of the city.

Tree Planting.

L C. Oberlies, head of the park department, has asked for 90 men to work in two crews of 45 each. They will plant trees in the parks and along the streets, and do some replacement work About 8,000 trees have been set ou this spring, he said, and about 2,000 more will be planted by the FERA employes.

Commissioner Bair asked the council Thursday where he will get enough money to buy materials to keep going with the approximately 800 men he is expected to use, and at the same time, not be compelled to furlough his regular employes. He has two projects, he said, which will require the expenditure of $1,550 for materials. One is removing car tracks from Cotner boulevard and Holdrege street in Bethany at an expense of $900. The other is the building of a new road connecting that part of Sheridan boulevard which is to be abandoned because of a new bridge and the new highway.

A high school education has been made pre-requisite to employment in most of the department stores in Tokyo.

PAT HARRISON FLAYS LONG ON SENATE FLOOR

ator Long called that statement an infamous falsehood."

The exchanges between the Louisiana senator and Harrison, who heads the finance committee, pertained to conduct of the hearing

Harrison Answers Long.

Again a crowd was on hand, many of whom went to the senate floor later and heard Long in a speech calling for heavier taxes on the wealthy

Then Harrison undertook a reply to a speech yesterday by Long blaming the democratic leadership for 'helping the Hoover administration to send the country to hell "

"A surplusage speech," Harrison termed Long's earlier address

"I shall offer no defense of what this side of the aisle did during the Hoover administration It needs no defense on the part of good democrats and I am sure the country appreciates the fact when men charged with a high responsibility here attempt to co-operate in trying to bring the country back to economic normalcy.

"Of course the leader on this side of the aisle (Robinson of Arkansas) needs no eulogy from me because what is in my heart, and my estimate of him and his labors and services here is shared by every member of the senate on both sides of the aisle, with possibly one exception."

Long Interrupts.

Here Long interrupted:

"In speaking of the leadership I had more particularly in mind, as well as anybody else, the senator from Mississippi. I was not speaking only of the senator from Arkansas. When I speak of the leadership, I think the senator knows I certainly had him in mind for the tax policy he has pursued. He need make no defense of anyone else, let him take care of himself"

"I am glad," Harrison replied, "the senator looks on me as included in the leadership, but if others care no more about his estimate of me than I care about it, it makes no difference because in my opinion the opinion of the senator from Louisiana is less respected by the membership of this body as a whole and by the country than that of any other senator here"

Col. E R Bradley, Kentucky sportsman, told the senate finance committee today he had donated $5 000 to help pay off the "political debts" of Senator Long after the latter was elected governor of Louisiana in 1928.

Long has asserted that Bradley and Col John P. Sullivan, New Orleans sportsman, are gambling partners and that Sullivan dominates Moore and his office.

FEBRUARY JOBS AND PAY AT NEW HIGH SINCE 1931

contrary may be brought into play.

Left To Industry.

The present attitude is to put the responsibility directly up to business. Its spokesmen have urged upon Hugh S. Johnson insistently their view that if there is no compulsion many industries will do the thing handsomely. With his own on the part of industry, Johnson belief that the initiative should be has found it easy to leave direct action to private interests for a time.

While Johnson's aides are going beyond present conditions to gain data on how many more men industry could possibly employ—"and if not, why not," in the words of the NRA administrator—the allied commerce department concentrated on past statistics.

It noted slight declines in employment in non-manufacturing industry between the middle of January and the middle of February as offsetting but a small proportion of the "marked gain in factory employment." The actual gain, it added "reversed the downward trend which had exxtended over a period of four months"

As to March possibilities, the report found that "current indications point toward further improvement in the employment opportunities in March."

Woman Bests Jack Dempsey In Ring Clash

ALEXANDRIA, La., April 5—(AP)—Jack Dempsey lost a ring battle here last night. Worse than that, he was forced into ignominous retreat from the scene or contest. It all happened as the ex-heavy champion was refereeing a heavyweight wrestling match and the 95-pound wife of one of the participants climbed into the roped square and took a hand in the proceedings.

Dempsey lost his shirt and a good deal of hair before it was all over.

Mrs. Johnny Plummer, whose husband was tying up with Bruce Noland in the feature of a mat card, gave the fans the unexpected extra thrill when she challenged the former pugilistic king and won at least a temporary victory.

Ot all started when Dempsey warned Plummer that he would not allow any kicking of Noland when the latter was on the floor. One thing led to another and Referee Dempsey closed the argument by delivering three quick uppercuts to the chin which ended the evening's entertainment for Plummer.

Dempsey Retreats.

But not for Mrs Plummer She was through the ropes from her ringside seat in a second and going after Dempsey's shirt and his hair before anybody could do anything about it. Dempsey retreated as far as the ropes would allow and stood there for a while, proving he could still take it without raising a hand in defense When Mrs Plummer really got organized, however, Dempsey slipped through the ropes and retreated into the crowd

By that time Promoter Mike Mile was in the ring trying to make everyone listen to reason, but when Mrs Plummer turned her attention to him, he quickly pinned her arms behind her and held them thus while Dempsey slipped back into the ring and raised Noland's arm in token of victory by default on a foul

There was lots of excitement but little damage to anyone

President Begins Second Week of Yacht Vacation

MIAMI, Fla., April 5—(AP)—Fishing is the program of the day for President Roosevelt as he enters his second week of vacation on the warm waters of the Bahamas in complete relaxation.

Reports from the Nourmahal say the president is really getting into the vaction spirit. He and his crew of shipmates are devoting all attention just now to fishing.

The game marlin fish was the particular goal of the group. Last night's message from Vincent Astor, owner of the yacht, to Marvin H. McIntyie, presidential secretary, here said:

"Remaining on at present anchorage and in pursuit of elusive marlin to duplicate last night's success"

SENATE DEFEATS BOOST IN RATES ON INCOME TAX

$10,000 ought to be satisfied if he nets a profit of $9 000"

WASHINGTON, April 5—(AP)—The bill that hits directly at Mr. J Public's purse—the $30,000,000 tax bill—neared passage by the senate today, but with much doubt about what will be the final fate of the moot income tax provisions.

The senate put a damper on speechmaking today as far as tthe La Follette amendment is concerned. This proposal of the Wisconsin senator seeks to boost the normal income tax from 4 to 6 per cent and to apply surtaxes ranging from 6 to 71 per cent on net incomes from $4,000 to more than $1,000,000.

The proposal of the senate finance committee is that a flat normal income tax of 4 per cent be applied with surtaxes running from 5 to 59 per cent in 29 brackets on net incomes between $4,000 and more than $1,000,000.

Compromises Expected.

Chairman Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, of the finance committee looked for compromises on new estate taxes and the proposed 3 cents a pound tax on cocoanut and other imported vegetable and fish oils. He said he himself would propose an amendment compelling corporations to report in their returns a list of all those receiving from them salaries and bonuses in excess of $15,000

The La Follette proposal presented the big hump in senate consideration, and once that is disposed of it appeared probable the entire bill would be given a final vote by tomorrow if not today.

The senate approved one amendment after another yesterday swiftly. Without even breaking stride for a record vote, it approved a tax of one-tenth of 1 per cent on the capital stock of corporations, allowing each concern to fix its own valuation, but placing an additional 5 per cent levy as a penalty for undervaluation.

Excess Profits Tax.

The same kind of approval was given an excess profits tax This would place a levy of 25 per cent on the first $100,000 of surpluses adjudged "improperly accumulated." The tax would be raised to 35 per cent for above $100,000 on the adjusted net income of corporations engaging in this practice.

On the estate tax question still to be settled, Harrison said he would accept a modified La Follette amendment. The Wisconsin senator proposes a 1 per cent tax on net estates below $35,000, ranging up to 50 per cent on those above $10,000,000.

The modification proposed would make the tax 1 per cent up to $40,000. Existing law makes this figure $50,000.

NINE OKLAHOMA FLOOD VICTIMS' BODIES FOUND

wife away. Her body was not recovered.

(By the Associated Press)

At least 25 persons are believed dead, a number are missing and the property damage is near a million dollars as a result of floods in the north and southwest.

As the high water receded Thursday the Elk City section of Oklahoma listed one known dead and fifteen missing in a seven-mile stretch of lowland through which the Washita river roared, sweping all before it. A federal emergency relief engineer estimated property damage at more than $500,000.

In western and northern Wisconsin the death list stood at nine. Officials mapped relief plans at Eau Claire for victims in eight counties swamped by rains and melting snow.

$100,000 Damage in Ohio.

Storms in Ohio caused damage estimated at $100,000. A man was killed by lightning at Canton.

In Kansas the rains continued but were less serious. Farmers expected their crops to benefit.

Snow held up highway and air traffic in the Rocky mountain region and lay as deep as 15 inches in places in the Dakota hills.

In the east, ten families near Hartford, Conn., abandoned their homes when the Connecticut river rose more than two feet above flood stage.

Municipal Power Bill Loses in N. Y.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 5—(AP)—Governor Lehman's chief public utilities "reform" bill, intended to permit municipalities to go into the power business, was defeated by the senate today

Senator John J Dunnigan, democratic majority leader and sponsor of the bill, immediately moved to reconsider the measure This opens the way for possible adoption of amendments and a new vote.

A few minutes later the senate passed minor bills in the Lehman program

One permits villages which already own power plants to extend their systems outside of the village limits with the consent of the public service commission.

Another permits the commission to order immediate temporary rate reductions for any company, providing it did not cut the company's earnings below 5 per cent.

FEDERAL AGENTS PRESS DRIVE ON DILLINGER GANG

Two More Hideouts Are Found in Twin Cities; Woman Is Grilled.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 5—(AP)—An auburn-haired woman, parrying police questions with cryptic answers, stood today between federal agents and possible capture of the notorious John (Wooden Gun) Dillinger.

The case signalled the opening of war against the new Dillinger gang by the federal government, which has a force of 25 department of justice agents here. Ordinarily, only 11 agents work out of the St. Paul headquarters.

The officers continued silent on the progress of their investigation, but reports were circulated that the woman is Bernice Norton, a friend of Evelyn Frechetti who, in turn, is a friend of Dillinger. Agents referred to the woman as "Bessie," and her description fits closely that of the Norton woman.

The woman occupied an apartment with Eugene Green, a Dillinger associate. Green was severely wounded and the woman was captured Tuesday night when the pair called at the home of a negress for luggage Green had left there

Two More Hideouts.

The arrest of the pair led to discovery of two more hideouts of the new Dillinger gang in the Twin Cities. The resultant inquiry led, too, to the questioning of Edward G. Bremer, St. Paul banker, who paid $200,000 for freedom from kidnapers last January after being held captive 22 days The possible connection between Dillinger gangsters and the Bremer kidnaping was not explained.

Four machine guns, three automatic rifles, one shotgun, a miniature machine gun fashioned from a .38 calibre navy special (a pistol), and a large quantity of ammunition were found in a St. Paul aprtment and a Minneapolis hideout occupied by Green and the woman.

Woman Carried $1,155.

When the woman was arrested she carried $1,155, mostly in $50 and $100 banknotes This led to questioning concerning recent bank robberies at Sioux Falls, S. D., and Mason City, Ia.

Dillinger himself, it was definitely established, was the man who unlimbered the machine gun on two federal operatives and a city detective last week when Dillinger, Green and a woman escaped a police trap.

The woman now held is believed to be the one who fled with Dillinger from an apartment at that time, after a machine gun fight.

Green, accosted by R. C. Couiter, federal agent, a few minutes previously, represented himself as a soap salesman and escaped after engaging in a pistol duel with the government man in the apartment house corridors.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes three good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

Bob Grove Turns Up With Kink in Salary Arm

Boston Red Sox Have Nothing to Show For $100,000 Diamond Deal

BOSTON, April 5—(AP)—Eddie Collins, Boston Red Sox general manager, today refused to become alarmed about the reported flareup of Bob "Lefty" Grove over his $100,000 southpaw pitching arm.

"When two such capable trainers as our Doc Woods and the Athletics' Doc Ebling, without having talked to each other, coincide in their diagnosis of Grove's sore arm, I am confident it will right itself in time," Collins said.

His First Sore Wing.

"I really am not surprised. You know this is the first sore arm Lefty has ever experienced and you may well imagine his state of mind when it refused to respond to treatment at once.

"We have no intention of trying to call off our deal with Connie Mack. It was made in good faith and it is merely one of the breaks of the game that Grove should have contracted a cold or injured his shoulder muscles in some way."

Grove, according to reports from Orlando, Fla., suddenly threw down his glove yesterday while warming up with Coach Tom Daly. He had been cutting loose and became so excited when his arm twinged that he cried out:

"To hell with it; I guess I can't do the club any good; I might as well hang up my spikes."

"My arm is terrible,' he said later, when he calmed down. "I don't know what to make of it. Maybe it will come around when we hit the cold weather. If it doesn't—well, I don't know."

Collins has been informed by what he regards as competent authorities that "Lefty" has a sore muscle in his upper arm and that the pain will gradually disappear under hard work.

"Kink" In Salary Arm.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 5—(INS)—Robert Moses Grove and his $100,000 southpaw hurling arm today were the enigma of the Red Sox baseball club. Is the former Philadelphia Athletics' pitching ace through with baseball? Is his arm dead? Or is Grove laboring under a streak of temperament brought on by undue anxiety over the little "kink" in his muscle which has been bothering him throughout the training season, and will it eventually straighten out?

Those were the questions which as yet remained unanswered, as the Sox, continuing their northward trek after breaking camp at Sarasota Monday, came to Jacksonville for a game against Baltimore.

Grove himself is worried. He showed that at Orlando yesterday when he threw down his glove, after a twitch of pain shot through his arm when he pitched a ball in a practice warmup prior to the Sox game with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Nervous Outburst.

In a nervous outburst as he walked to the bench, yanked his jacket from a hook and put it on, Grove muttered: "I guess I can't do the club any good. I might as well hang up the spikes."

He calmed down a bit after stretching out on the grass and watching his teamates play. "Maybe it will come around when we hit cold weather," he said.

At any rate, Lefty decided to keep plugging away in an attempt to work out the kink that has caused him bother ever since he started the training season.

His trouble is a mystery. He was not bothered until he started to work himself into shape this year. Then the kink developed.

Trainers Puzzled.

Doc Woods, the Red Sox trainer, has been baking Grove's arm almost daily. General Manager Eddie Collins took him to Dr. E. B. Ebling, Athletics' trainer, in an effort to discover what if anything was wrong with his arm.

Neither Woods nor Dr. Ebling could find any trouble and assured Lefty that the condition was only temporary and would work out.

Every day Grove went out to the field and went through sessions of hurling. His arm swung loose enough and many times while pitching to his teammates, he opened up with speed and steam. But apparently every once in a while, that kink in his muscle shot a pain through his arm.

WELTER KING IN MOOD FOR FIGHT

M'Larnin Anxious Return To Ring, Provided He Gets the Dough.

By PAT ROBINSON.

NEW YORK, April 5—(INS)—Jimmy McLarnin has no desire to quit righting; he doesn't want to give up his welterweight title and he isn't particularly keen about getting married. But—take it from Pop Foster, that canny old bird who makes all Jimmy's fistic arrangements—Jimmy might do all three unless he gets what he wants.

And what does Jimmy want? "Well," Drawls Pop, 'just a little dough." A "little dough," in Pop's estimation, being any sum in excess of $35,000

'That's all—just 35 G's—but for that kind of money he is willing to battle Barney Ross, the lightweight champ, or, if Barney doesn't care to sample Jimmy's lethal right hand, Jimmy is willing to give away weight and tackle Vince Dundee, the middleweight king.

Getting a few grudging words out of Pop is almost as easy as extracting an elephant's tusks with your fingers, but the last idea was so intriguing we stuck with Pop until he enlarged on it.

Willing Take On Dundee

"Sure," said Pop today. "Jimmy doesn't care who he fights He'd just as soon fight Dundee as anybody else if Dundee can draw enough.

"Yeah, I know what they say about Jimmy always getting the best of the weights, but that's not his fault. It's the promoters who are to blame. No, I wouldn't say Singer, and Terris and Goldstein were soft touches. They just looked that way after Jimmy belted them out. I guess the public must have thought they had a chance or they wouldn't have paid better than $300,000 to see them."

What did Pop think of the boys in Jimmy's own class as contenders?

"Well now, I'll tell you. I don't think any of them would draw much right now. But these promoters oughta have an elimination tournament and Jimmy'd fight the winner."

Proposes a Tournament.

And who does Pop think should be in the tournament?

"Well, now, I don't rightly know, but there's lots of good boys around if these here New York promoters will give them a show. There's Garcia out on the coast. He could fight this Van Klaveren. And there's Young Corbett—oh, lots of them.

"Like I said, Jimmy'd fight anybody, even Jack Dempsey, if he gets a little dough for it. If he doesn't, why Jimmy won't starve. He can always wait until they find somebody worth while."

Pop indicated he would stick around for a few days until he hears what Ross' manager, Sam Pian, has to say when he gets in tomorrow. Pop, you see, hasn't yet given up hope that he'll land a chance to make a "little dough" in a fight with Ross

HOPPE DROPS OUT AS TITLE BIDDER

Veteran Cueist Loses To German, Who Scores 400 In Six Innings.

CHICAGO, April 5—(INS)—Eric Hagenlacher of Germany, having definitely eliminated Willie Hoppe from the running, was setting an enviable pace today in the international 18.2 balk line billiard tournament here.

With his six-inning 400 to 223 victory over Hoppe last night, Hagenlacher took a good hold on first place with Welker Cochran, San Francisco, who took Kinrey Matsuyama into camp late yesterday, 400 to 181. Hagenlacher plays Cochran tomorrow night for the title.

Matsupama and Ora C. Morningstar of San Diego will complete their tournament schedules in a match today. Tonight, Hoppe is scheduled to meet Cochran, whose record shows five victories to one setback

In the last inning of his match with Hoppe, Hagenlacher scored his high run of the evening, an unfinished run of 141, to go out. Hoppe had a run of 168 in the fourth inning, which was the best run of the tournament.

PINEHURST, N. C., April 5—(AP)—Dick Chapman, former interscholastic champion of Greenwich, Conn., today loomed as a serious threat to George Dunlap, national amateur champion, in the latter's defense of his North and South amateur title.

Chapman yesterday uncorked a sensational 66 on the No. 2 course to eliminate Johnny Johnson of Lumberton, N. C., in a quarter-finals match. The score was 8 and 7.

Dunlap, who set a course record of 63 Tuesday, received a severe challenge from Jack Ryerson of Cooperstown, N. Y., but eliminated him, 4 and 3.

Today, in the semi-finals, Dunlap faced Arthur Lynch of Mamaroneck, N. Y., who advanced at the expense of Robert Lester, Orange, N. J., one up.

Dick Wilson of Southern Pines, N. C., faced Chapman in the lower bracket. Wilson defeated Halbert J. Blue of Pittsburgh, 4 and 3.

"What's in a name?" Ask us another. But in the meantime consider Max Baer, fighter, film actor and night club master of ceremonies, who is giving a fine impersonation of a tree-climbing bear at Lake Tahoe, Cal., where he has been preparing for his title bout with Champion Primo Carnera at New York in June.

BUCKEYES AIM TO GRAB TOP PLACE

Ohio Bowlers With High Season Averages Face Pins at Peoria.

PEORIA, Ill., April 5—(AP)—Ohio will try tonight for another first place position among the leaders of the American Bowling Congress tournament when the Waldorf Lager team of Cleveland rolls on the final squad.

Claiming to be the world's match-game champions, the Clevelanders will vie with stars from Ft. Wayne, Ind., Lockport, N. Y., and Watertown and Madison, Wis.

Five keglers, all hook artists and all with averages better than 206, make up the Lager outfit.

Ft. Wayne, Ind., is sending several crack teams. Everett Scott, former infielder for the New York Yankees, who leads the Grace Construction Company team, is rated the best bowler in the Hoosier town. Last year he finished third in the all-events.

Al Brandt, runner-up for the all-events last year, is listed to shoot with the Kelsey Opticals of Lockport, N. Y.

Teams and bowlers from as far west as Dallas, Tex., and east to New Haven, Conn., are scheduled today.

Holders of first places held their lofty perches yesterday, but two changes were created among the leaders. Johnson and Bob Allen, Pontiac, Mich., won third place in the doubles with 1,288. Joe Reese hit 1,915 and took seventh in the all-events.

Jap Tennis Veteran Suddenly Taken Ill

SINGAPORE, April 5— (AP)—Jiro Satoh, Japanese Davis cup veteran, who was taken ill aboard a ship enroute to Europe with other members of the team, today decided to continue with his teammates. It was considered doubtful, however, that he would be able to play in the Davis cup matches.

The loss of Satoh would be a severe blow to Japan's hopes of making a creditable showing in the Davis cup matches. Although dethroned as Japan's leading player by younger men, he was counted on as a steadying influence for this year's team.

INDIANS PICK ON NEW YORK'S ACE

Cleveland Sluggers Find Hubbell Easy Mark In Spring Game.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., April 5—(INS)—Walter Johnson and his Cleveland Indians were lamenting today because Carl Hubbell, ace moundsman of the New York Giants and generally considered the best hurler in the National league, cannot face them every day as the two clubs continue their circus tour northward.

The Indians found Hubbell a "soft touch" at Meridian, Miss., yesterday, the Clevelanders winning over their New York rivals by a score of 7 to 0.

Connie Sweet on Infield.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 5—(INS)—Connie Mack was a happy manager today. He has refused to make any predictions about where the A's will finish the 1934 American league race, but he went on record as saying that he would not trade his infield for any in the circuit. The infield, which aided the White Elephants gain a 16-3 victory over the Charlotte Hornets yesterday, is composed of Jimmy Foxx, first base; Dib Williams, second; Eric McNair, short, and Frank Higgins, third.

Hudlin Adds to String.

MERIDIAN, Miss., April 5—Willis Hudlin, Cleveland Indian hurler, has run his string of scoreless innings against major league pennant winners to thirteen. First, he blanked Washington for five innings, then the New York Giants for four, and yesterday added four more against the Giants.

COACH CONTENT WITH 30 SQUAD

Richmond Mentor Argues Average Tutor Has Too Much Material.

RICHMOND, Va., April 5—(AP)—The trouble with some football teams, says Glenn Thistlethwaite, former Wisconsin and Northwestern coach, is that they have too much material.

Thistlethwaite, new football coach at the University of Richmond, believes a squad of 30 players is just about right.

Players are tense, he explained, nervous and over-anxious when they know there are other players on the bench almost or just as good awaiting the coach's nod to take their places.

Then, when alumni send good football players to their alma mater, they like to se them play. When they don't get in the line-up, there are letters to the coach. If they do, there's jealousy and dissatisfaction on the squad.

"But a squad of 30 good players, that's ideal. There'll be enough to insure good competition for the jobs and good football games."

Spring Camp Briefs.

BROOKLYN DODGERS.

ORLANDO, Fla., April 5—(INS)—The Brooklyn Dodgers, jubilant over their two consecutive triumphs over the Boston Red Sox, were to meet another Hub aggregation, the Braves, here today. The Dodgers now boast a record of four won and six lost against major league opponents. Linus Frey, youthful short-stop, who was struck on the head by a pitched ball, several days ago, rejoined the club today. It will be at least a week before Frey is able to play again, however.

NEW YORK YANKEES.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 5—(INS)—Twice triumphant over the Atlanta Crackers, the touring New York Yankees arrived here today for another crack at Southern league opposition. They meet the Birmingham club today. The coming of the Yankees is always a gala event in Birmingham because of the presence of Chapman, Walker, Ewell and other native sons in the New Yorkers' lineup. The Yanks defeated Atlanta, 10 to 5, yesterday.

CHICAGO WHITE SOX.

TUCSON, Ariz., April 5—(INS)—The Chicago White Sox set out to make it three in a row today in their exhibition series with the Pittsburgh Pirates. Pitcher Milton Gaston, one of Lew Fonseca's "rocking chair brigade," was elected to open for the Sox. Pounding Ralph Birkofer, Pirate left-hander, for 12 hits, the Sox won, 11 to 3, yesterday at Phoenix.

CHICAGO CUBS.

SAN ANTONIO Tex., April 5—(INS)—Charley Grimm, player-manager of the Chicago Cubs, was recovering today from a wallop on the head by a thrown ball which knocked him unconscious while his team was taking a 10-inning 24 to 21 victory from the local nine. Doctors said the only ill effects Grimm suffered was a bad headache.

REDSKINS WIN IN FLURRY OF FISTS

Haskell Boxers Compile 5-4 Victory Over Lincoln "Y."

Haskell Indians earned a 6-4 decision over the Lincoln Y. M. C. A. in a dual glove meet at the "Y" Wednesday night, but it was two capital city boxers that stole the show. Harry Holdren and Gene Flynn of the Lincoln "Y" stables scored two first round knockouts at the Redskin's expense to top the amateur card which packed more thrills than any Lincoln fight card of many seasons.

All bouts found the simon-pures meeting toe to toe and trading punches in such rapid fashion the finish often found both boxers exhausted. The best matches of the evening were in the 118-pound and 126-pound divisions.

Elmer Showalter, Lincoln, shaded Henry Smith, Chippewa tribesman, to earn the judges' award at the close of three fast rounds in the 118-pound class. Lester Oliver, Apache warrior, had a narrow margin of points in a whirlwind mix with Howard Taft in the 126-pound class. Summary:

BASEBALL men everywhere—magnates, managers, players and scribes—are expressing deep regret over the recent injury of Rabbit Maranville, veteran infielder for the Boston Braves who is laid up in a Florida hospital as the result of a leg fracture sustained in a spring training game.

One of the diamond sport's playboys during most of his career, Maranville eventually saw the error of his ways and made himself over into a man of model habits, respected and revered by the Boston public.

Although once rated as "down and out," he fought his way back into big time baseball and at the Braves' training camp in Florida was playing the game with all the dash and enthusiasm of his younger days.

Active in baseball far beyond the span of years ordinarily allotted to the average national pastimer—the Rabbit will be 43 next November—the mishap which erases his name from the Boston lineup takes rank as a tragedy by reason of the fact that if the rules of the game were respected, according to both the spirit and the letter, Maranville still would be in uniform, ready to fill his position at the keystone sack for the Braves.

PRESS dispatches giving the details of Maranville's injury provided the explanation that his left leg was fractured in collision with the opposing team's catcher when the Rabbit was trying for the home plate.

The so-called collision, as a matter of fact, was avoidable. The catcher merely needed to play the game in accordance with the rule in the book, giving the base-runner his full rights on the basepaths.

But the catcher played the game as virtually every catcher in baseball has played it for time immemorial—he blocked the Rabbit away from the home plate by stationing himself on the base-line. And when the crash came, Maranville paid the price for the other player's trangression.

This "block-the-runner" trick is, indeed, one of baseball's darkest mysteries. The rules forbid it, yet the violation has gone on and on for so many years that no umpire in any league in the land pays the slightest attention to the incident, and players everywhere accept it as one of baseball's established institutions. What's the answer? Don't ask me. The rule is there (Section 5, Rule 47), yet never is it enforced!

THE Chicago club of the National league has a new president, Mr. William Walker, successor to the late Millionaire Wrigley of chewing gum fame. Being a new prexy, Mr. Walker bobs up with a new scheme, as follows:

Sensing that many thousands of budding ball players never have a chance to learn the diamond game under the guidance of competent instructors, the Chicago magnate proposes to sponsor a baseball school for youngsters, paying the cost out of the coffers of his club.

To that end, Magnate Walker announces that when the Cubs are away from home next year in spring training, presumably in California, several hundred youngsters will be invited to assemble at the Chicago park for instructions in baseball as played in professional circles.

A staff of teachers—old-time big leaguers, of course—will be in charge of the classes, and when the month's course is finished, the Chicago prexy figures that the Cubs may be in position to acquire some high-class talent which otherwise might never qualify for recognition in professional circles.

MAGNATE WALKER'S scheme has much to commend it, yet it occurs to the writer that his plan lacks one vital essential, to-wit: Not one youngster in a thousand, after the school has run its course, could be declared ready for a whirl at big league baseball. Dozens of them, however, might be in readiness for a fling at professional ball in the smaller class C and D leagues.

That's the weakness of the plan. The youngsters will have been taught the rudiments, perhaps many of the finer points, of the diamond sport, yet they will have no place to carry on—no minor league in which to put into practice the things they learned in Magnate Walker's school.

So, as I see it, the Chicago man's proposal merely scratches the surface. To make a success of his scheme, he should father a larger, broader plan providing for major league assistance aimed at organizing and financing a chain of smaller leagues. More class D leagues in baseball inevitably would mean more desirable young talent in process of development for the majors. It's all very simple. The wonder is that the majors are so hesitant to act.

HERE AND THERE: The pace is swift in professional baseball. The youngster of today is the old-timer of tomorrow. Even 20 years ago, Del Baker was a catcher of fine promise for Lincoln's Western league team. Today, Del is coaching the young catchers and pitchers on the roster of the Detroit Tigers. As a player, he has run his race...Something mysterious here: President Harridge of the American league gave a re-appointment to every member of his league's umpiring staff with the single exception of Roy Van Graflan. The latter's dismissal has not been explained, other than that a disgruntled club owner of the Harridge circuit had complained. Van Graflan was a Western league arbiter 10 years ago—the cream of the loop's umpiring crop. After a year or two in the Pacific Coast circuit, he moved up to the majors, a deserved promotion of one of the most impartial, also most competent, umpires of the writer's experience ... More Speed In Sight For '34 Huskers Than Any Year In History

BY GREGG McBRIDE.

Speed! Plenty of it! This most important asset in victorious football teams will feature the 1934 University of Nebraska eleven—if spring practice indications may be taken at face value. Crowded into a neutral corner, Dana X. Bible, head boss of the Cornhusker footballers, will break down and confess that although he will have only one regular in moleskins when the Huskers start work next September, the outlook at this early date is far from discouraging.

More Speed Than Ever.

Bible is counting on speed to offset inexperience and prospects point to the speediest backfield combination since Bible took over the coaching reins at the Cornhusker institution five years ago. In fact, there are those who aver that the 1934 Husker quartet will carry more speed than any set of ball-luggers in Nebraska U. history.

The speediest combination perhaps would bring together Jerry Lanoue, Johnny Williams, Lloyd Cardwell and Bob Benson in the backfield. Cardwell and Benson are trackmen of proved ability, Lanoue showed dazzling speed in football togs last fall and Williams has enough "gas" to fit in with the trio. While this foursome has never appeared in any of the practice games this spring, the quartet has been together several times during the light drills preliminary to the games.

All Back In '35.

A bright side of the picture is that all members of this quartet will be back in 1935, as also will Bible's "Blue" backfield combination of Sam Francis, Ron Douglas, Johnny Howell and "Chief" Bauer.

Glenn Skewes and "Bud" Parsons, senior backs next fall, will see plenty of service with the first combination, while those probably doing relief for the latter quartet will include Marion DeJarnett, Al Hopp, Waldine Willey and Allen Turner.

Bible believes the 1934 varsity possibly will show greater offensive strength than the team of 1933. Defensively, however, next fall's outfit can hardly hope to keep step with the great team of last year which permitted only three touchdowns by opponents during a strenuous season.

Punting Presents Problem.

The Nebraska coach is also somewhat worried over the punting, no kickers being uncovered during the spring drill able to deliver in the fashion George Sauer, Steve Hokuf and John Roby have shown the past few seasons.

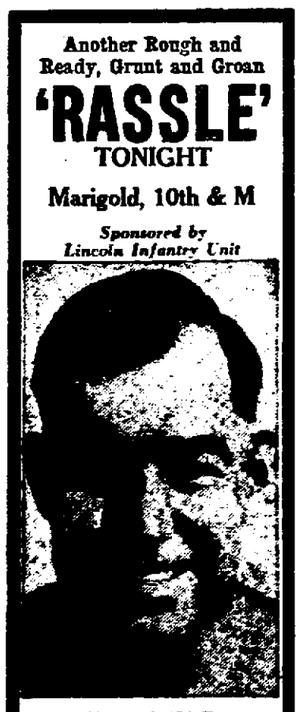

Glenn Skewes, Jerry Lanoue, Ron Douglas, Johnny Howell, Virgil Yelkin, Al Hopp and Lloyd Cardwell have been doing most of the spring booting. Illness and injury have kept Sam Francis and Marion DeJarnett, two promising freshmen, from using their educated toes.

The 1934 varsity should be able to take care of itself in other departments of the aerial game. The frosh squad is bringing a pair of dandy pass-snatchers in Lester McDonald and Lloyd Cardwell, while Bob Benson has blossomed out during the spring drills.

The varsity squad is enjoying a spring vacation layoff this weekend, but will return next week for a few days' practice and the ... game of the spring series on Friday, April 13.

New Rassling Talent At Marigold Tonight

Joe De Vito, newcomer in Lincoln and claimant of the Italian heavyweight chamuionship, and Homer "Bearcat" Wright, Kansas City, Mo., former Kansas State gridster, meet tonight at the Marigold in a finish match headlining the Lincoln Infantry Unit's rassling show. The bout is a two falls out of three affair with no time-limit strings attached.

Young Gotch, who has engaged in over a thousand matches, makes his debut before Lincoln mat fans in the semi-windup, facing Buck Olson, the "Terrible Swede" from Minneapolis.

In the prelim, Pete Spaedt and Jake Wyant, a pair of local groaners, will display their wares in a 20-minute bout.

Stock Market Prices Move In Extremely Narrow Range; Old Line Leaders Are Featureless

Exchange Close Is Fairly Steady

Some Utilities Rally; Few Specialities Livelier Than Usual.

NEW YORK, April 5—(AP)— With few exceptions, stock market prices moved in an extremely narrow range today. Some of the utilities rallied and various copper issues and specialties were livelier than usual. The old line leaders, however were featureless. The close was fairly steady. Transfers approximated 1,500,000 shares.

Stocks generally displayed a fairly firm undertone today although there appeared to be a lack of stimulating news as well as market sponsorship.

Modest improvement was shown by some of the metals, oils and packing shares but most other groups held to an extremely narrow range and the activity was somewhat under that of the previous session.

Bonds, while fairly steady, were not in such demand as yesterday. Grains, cotton and rubber were a trifle easier, but silver and copper futures improved. Foreign exchanges were a bit reactionary.

Shares of Armour preferred got up more than 2 and Pillsbury and J. C. Penney gained a point or more each. U. S. Smelting, American Smelting, Kennecott, Anaconda and Cerro de Pasco were fractionally to a point higher. Postal Telegraph preferred, Western Union and International Telephone firmed. Standard Oils of New Jersey and California and Seaboard were up a little. The rails and utilities did nothing. Such equities as American Telephone, U. S. Steel Consolidated Gas, Montgomery Ward and Allied Chemical were virtually unchanged. The motors were somewhat lower.

Most of the recently fast-moving low-priced specialties died down to a slow jog when it was reported that the stock exchange governors had sent a questionnaire to brokers requesting details of transactions in some of these issues.

Followers of the motor stocks were somewhat confused by the announcement of Henry Ford that he would not join the other major companies in raising the prices of cars and would, if materials got too high, fabricate his own. If the Detroit manufacturer maintains this position, it was believed that competition in the automotive field would be much keener.

While the financial section apparently felt much better regarding the stock exchange control bill, and the opinon was expressed in several quarters that the measure would be either substantially revised or shelved traders failed to back their hopes with any exceptional buying demonstration.

The combined attack on both the regulatory measure and the securities act was being given the closest attention in brokerage houses. The consensus was that liberalization of the securities law was highly probably.

Indications that business still is moving forward were seen in the report of bank cyearings for the week ended April 4, which showed an aggregate of $4,823,052,000, or a gain of 12.6 over the same 1933 period. The total exceeded that of the previous week by $440,541,000.

The excellent reception of the treasury's new conversion loan, which involves an exchange of 3¼ per cent bonds for called Liberty fourth 4¼s and maturing notes amounting, in all, to around $1,250,000,000 led some bankers to wonder if the government might not call another two series of the Liberty issues on April 15 for retirement on October 15.

The calling on Libertys requires six months notice from any interest date. The next pryment fall the middle of this month. With the saving of some $10,000,000 under the conversion plan for the bonds that have been called, the thought was advanced that the treasury might decide to retire more of the higher coupon issues. Most of the called bonds, which carry exclusive options on the new issue, are said to be held by dealers, banks and insurance companies.

The Bank of France showed another increase in its gold holdings for the week of March 30. The bank's total, as of this date, amounted to 74,613,000 francs compared with 74,365,000,000 on March 23. Financial circles attributed the continued gains in the French gold figures largely to transfers of the metal from Switzerland. The French bank, at the same time, reporte den advance in currency circulation to 82,833,000,000 francs from 80,821,000,000 in the previous week. The ratio dropper from 77.34 per cent to 76.77.

Foreign exchanges were quiet on opening dealings. The French franc was unchanged at 6.60 cents and the British pound was 3-16 of a cent higher at $5.16 3-16.

Weakness Grips Wheat Market

Close Is Unsettled, ⅛-½c Lower; Corn Unchanged to ⅜c Up.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 5—(AP)— Except during a little spurt of buying toward the last, weakness prevailed in the wheat market today, and prices averaged lower.

Inflation talk had died down, and yesterday's sharp advance of wheat values was regarded as having undermined the trade position. Attention continued to focus chiefly on legislative developments at Washington.

Wheat closed unsettled, ⅛ to ½ under yesterday's finish, May 86⅜@86⅜, July 86¼@86¾; corn unchanged to ⅜ higher, MaMy 48½@48⅝, July 50⅝@50¾; oats unchanged to ⅛ lower, and provisions unchanged to 20 cents up.

Downturns in grain values early today followed reports of light rain or snow southwest, west and northwest. The moisture tended to relieve apprehension regarding crops. Opening ¼ to ⅝ cent lower, May 86⅛@⅜c wheat afterward showed an additional sag. Corn started ⅛ to ½ cent down and subsequently altered little.

Declines of wheat prices were checked by some purchases on resting orders to absorb July at around 86 cents. This was at less than a cent under yesterday's finish. The chief immediate subject of interest to traders appeared to be the question what the senate at Washington would do with a finance committee recommendation that 5 cents tax on grain futures dealings be reduced to 1 cent.

Traders contended that the tax on grain futures had narrowed the markets, and depressed the price of farmers grain. Talk was general that the finance committee's recommendation should be adopted without delay, so that the markets would be able to absorb the new crops which will soon start moving. Meanwhile, business in all the grain futures pits today was nearly at a standstill much of the time, with prices showing little power to rally. Corn and oats ranged lower with wheat.

Provisions advanced, responsive to upturns of hog values.

Wheat futures purchases yesterday totaled 19,705,000 bushels, corn 5,651,000. Open interest in wheat was 116,075,000 bushels and corn 92,506,000 bushels.

About mid-session, wheat was ¼ to ⅝ cent lower, compared with yesterday's finish, and corn was ⅛ to ⅜ cent down.

Corn receipts in Chicago today were 19 cars a week ago 114, and a year ago 100.

Corn dipped early, but sufficient support developed around 48 cents for May to absorb the offerings and a rally from the inside figure followed. Shipping demand was not large, and it was understood that there has been little or no grain sold so far for shipment at the opening of lake navigation. Some of the leading cash handlers are looking for small receipts of corn the next 60 to 90 days as field work is now under way throughout the leading states. In addition, reports have suggested around 260,000,000 bushels of corn have been sealed in farm cribs as collateral for government loans. Export bids for domestic corn at the seaboard were said to be about 3 cents out of line.

NEW YORK BOND REVIEW.

NEW YORK, April 5—(AP)— Further investment buying through the range of high grade issues gave the bond market good support today. Secondary loans also were higher in many instances although buying tended to become more selective on the forward movement. Trading was in fair volume during the forenoon.

Over most of the federal list there was a moderate extension of yesterday's sizeable gains. Treasury 4¼s pushed up 12-32nds of a point, against gains of 2-32nds to 5-32nds in other Treasury and Liberty issues.

Rails clung to recent gains, but utilities were spotty. There were moderate advances in Santa Fe 4s, Erie 5s, Missouri Pacific 5s, New York Central 5s, Nickel Plate 5½s and Southern Railway 4s.

Industrial favorites advancing around a point included National Dairy 5¼s, Bethlehem Steel 5s, Goodyear 5s, Shell Union Oil 5s and United Drug 5s. Chile Copper 5s yielded more than a point, and lower prices were established for American & Foreign Power 5s, Columbia Gas & Electric 5s, North American 5s. Detroit Edison 4½s made a point gain on small transfers.

Foreign bonds were mixed. Franch 7½s improved about a point, and Japanese 6½s rose half a cent. German Agricultural 6s and Italian 7s were down fractionally.

NEW YORK CURB REVIEW.

NEW YORK, April 5—(AP)— Curb trading was dull today. Prices held steady, most leaders fluctuating only small fractoins.

Pond Creek Pocahontas Coal, Interstate Hosiery and Western Auto Supply "A" rose 1 to 2 points. Aluminum of America maintained its recent upward trend. Alcohols showed firmness.

Supply and demand in metal issues were well balanced. Pioneer Gold was active, though virtually unchanged. Lake Shore was also steady.

Utilities were quiet and oils dull. Such miscellaneous issues as Sherwin Williams, Great Atlantic & Pacific Pittsburgh Plate Glass, Corp., Pennroad and American Cyanamid "B" moved narrowly. Newmont Mining reacted about a point.

GRAIN NOTES

CHICAGO, April 5—(AP)—Bearish sentiment disappeared in the market yesterday as prices turned upward on inflation talk. Reports that the southwest wheat belt had benefited by rain and a forecast of additional precipitation over both the spring and winter wheat areas caused early liquidation of wheat, but some of the grain was repurchased later. May wheat dropped to a new low in the current decline and May corn was sold for 47¼ cents, the lowest since last November 1.

Some parts of Kansas reported rainfall of 1½ inches, but most of the precipitation was in the eastern region of the wheat belt where it was least needed. The drouth of last summer and fall was said to have caused a shortage of hay and feed grains in parts of the northwest and southwest.

The country sold 65,000 bushels of corn to arrive yesterday, but the eastern demand was light. Scattered liquidation appeared early in May corn and oats, and the low price of the day for the May delivery of corn was only 2¼ cents above the government's loan rate of 45 cents a bushel for corn stored in farm cribs.

Only 2,000,000 bushels of the 24,916,000 bushels of all grain held at Duluth were reported under charter for shipment at the opening of the navigation season on the lakes about May 1.

BOY RETURNED TO PARENTS AFTER 7 YEARS WANDERING

TARBORO, N. C., April 5—(AP)— A boy who disappeared from his home in Wisconsin at the age of 16 had been returned today to his parents in La Crosse after seven years of wandering.

Giving his name as Earl Kunert, he was committed to the Edgecombe county jail last November when carnival authorities with whom he worked turned him over to Tarboro officers because he appeared to be insane.

Dr. R. E. Broadway, Edgecombe health officer, questioned the boy at length and, from correspondence resulting from his answers, learned that his real name was Elmer Hoeth of La Crosse.

Miss Eloise Hoeth, sister of Elmer, came to Tarboro and took the boy to Wisconsin. She said he wrecked his father's automobile in 1927 and disappeared a few days later.

INSULL LAWYERS CARRY ON FIGHT

ISTANBUL, Turkey, April 5—(AP)—Samuel Insull spent today writing notes for his memoirs so the world will have his side of a spectacular story.

Sitting under guard in a hospital ward, he jotted memoranda of his desperate sea flight from American authorities.

The Turkish government, which stopped the flight unceremoniously, sought to sweep away the last legal cobwebs and have him ready for the United States when it comes to get him.

During the night, the travel-weary Chicagoan received word from his London agents that an additional $10,000 had been made available for his use in continuing the last-ditch struggle against extradition to the United States.

CORUM'S CHATTER

By BILL CORUM.

NEW YORK, April 5—(INS)—This life is fascinating, but sometimes physically tiring. We were up yesterday to have breakfast with Pop Foster and Leo Fitzgerald. Pop is the manager of Jimmy McLarnin, fair-haired fighter. Fitzgerald is the theatrical booking agent. They are close friends—closer than the day the note comes due on the old homestead.

Pop was worried. The New York state boxing commission had ordered McLarnin to defend his title against Bep Van Klaveren, the Hollander. Jimmy's title is the welterweight title. Pop doesn't mind Jimmy fighting Bep, but he doesn't think there is any money in it.

Fitzgerald had asked us to come to breakfast to see if we had any suggestions to offer. We had—a good one. We suggested that Pop hang on for dear life until he got the Barney Ross match. That's the fight the fans want to see. Some day the boys who make their livings from boxing will realize that they—and the sport or the business, as you like—will last longer if they try to give the fans what they want.

"Pop," I said to him, "that's the only match I'd even waste your time talking about. A lot of folks in this town reason that Jimmy hasn't fought for a long time and that Ross will lick him. Maybe Ross can do it, too. He's a smart, fast, young fighter. It's true that Jimmy hasn't fought for a long time."

"Yes," said Pop, "and he's getting old."

"And his hands are bad," I suggested.

"Oh, his hands," Pop shuddered. "his hands are terrible. His hands are really terrible bad."

"So," I argued, "what do Ross and Sam Pian want? It's a good match. A comer for a fellow who must be going away a little. It will draw a lot of money. If Jimmy should knock him out, what will he lose? Not his lightweight title. Not his reputation. It's a good match for Ross, even if he loses, and who can be positive that he will lose?"

"Sure and it would," agreed Pop, "and have you heard anything from Pian?"

"All I can tell you, Pop," I said, "is that Pian will be in town Friday morning. But he's coming by train and not airplane, so take it easy."

"Thank you kindly," said old Pop. "You really have made me feel easier."

Later we were lunching in Lindy's when Maxie Rosenbloom, the world's light-heavyweight champion, came by. Maxie's days as a champion are near an end. He knows it. He is having his beautifully cauliflowered ear drained and pressed out in preparation for his marriage with a [illegible] liquor heiress. Thus he proves himself an optimist. He thinks because he is getting married his fighting days are over.

At dinner last night with Joe Connolly, Bradley Kelly, Steve Hannagan and Sherman Billingsley, (all those sports writers do is eat) we fell to talking of favorite sports stories.

"Tad's favorite story," said Joe, "was about the time Sam Langford was fighting another colored heavyweight, who was a novice and respectfully [illegible] toward Sam.

"But just before the bell in one round this young fellow got a little too gay and hit Sam a hefty poke on the [illegible]. At the start of the next round Sam came out holding his gloves before him as though to shake hands.

"'What's the matter, Mr. Sam?' [illegible] the young fellow. '[illegible] round.'

"'Boy,' [illegible] Langford. 'And it was.'

Well old Tham could call his shots in those days. No more. Now he is so blind it's hard for him to pick up a dime here and there [illegible].

SPORT SLANTS

BY ALAN GOULD

Associated Press Sports Editor.

AS IS likely to be the case with all world champions, legends of invincibility grow up about them with the years.

So it was with Robert Tyre Jones, jr., after he completed his wonderful "grand slam" in 1930 championship golf competition. He retired at the height of his fame and achievements, so what more natural than that the aura of unconquerable prowess should settle about him?

History simply repeated itself when he was beaten by a dozen professionals, headed by Horton Smith, in the $5,000 invitation tournament over his own course at Augusta, yet it was a shock to everyone but Jones himself as this one-time Napoleon of golf was taken into camp by the very men he had outgeneralled on the links for a decade.

I do not doubt that Jones was a bit disappointed, especially as his game was equipped with everything necessary for a big comeback except consistency and accuracy with the chip and putt. His performance vividly revealed exactly where the payoff is in championship golf—around the greens. It showed there's absolutely no glory in the long drive and accurate iron if they are not hooked up to the proper execution of delicate shots around the cups.

Jones wasted enough putts on his first two rounds to have won the tournament. He was frank enough to tell why.

"NATURALLY I hoped to do better," he said. "But I realized as soon as the tournament began that I was tackling a lot more than I anticipated.

"Not that I have any excuse for missing so many of those short putts but I experienced something bordering the jitters every time I stepped up to one of them.

"In a friendly or practice round, I don't give a second thought to those short chip or pitch shots or to a putt of a few feet. They either work or they don't and why worry about it? But when I am back in competition again, I suddenly begin thinking 'I've got to be careful now, take time and pains with these shots and bring them off.' So what's the natural result? I start tightening up, just like any other golfer, and missing them.

"I had absolutely no confidence at any time I stepped up to a putt of four feet or more. Try as I did, I could not avoid stabbing at the ball. In other words, I was being conscious about things that I seldom even gave a thought to when I was playing in tournaments right along.

"That's all there is to it. I felt I was hitting the ball well enough but I couldn't score with anything like consistency."

THE thing Jones was more interested in at Augusta than his personal golf exhibition was the success of the first annual invitation tournament over the course he helped design and which his friends have made a new golfing center. It will be an annual event and Jones intends to participate every year, just for the fun of it. For that reason it is certain to attract national interest for some time to come.

No one observing the events at Augusta could escape the conclusion that R. T. Jones, jr., is still the gerat personality of golf. Win or lose, he carries an extraordinary appeal to the game's multitude of followers. The biggest galleries of the final day were not in pursuit of the professionals in the lead but chasing after Jones and the old warhorse, Walter Hagen, both out of the running. It was an amazing testimonial.

The wish is father to the idea that Jones may return to national open competition. He will not do so.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS— By John Hix

For further proof address the author, inclosing a stamped envelope for reply. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

For ages man has sought to fly, but until the Wright brothers' strange machine took to the air from a Carolina sand dune in 1903 he had not learned to fly. Even then man's flight was puny compared with that of nature's foremost fliers—the birds.

But strange as it seems, in the few short years between the Wrights' first flight and modern flying, man has learned more about flying than birds have in all the years since creation. Man can fly faster, farther and higher than any bird. There is only one thing left that flies faster than man, and that thing is an insect. The deer fly, scientists say, flies faster than 800 miles an hour.

One of the strangest plays that was ever seen on a baseball diamond resulted in Baltimore last season after a batter on the Lynch Point team hit a long drive into the outfield. The ball rolled into a tin can.

The fielder, unable to get the ball out of the can, threw can and all to second base where the runner was tagged. He was tagged with the can, not the ball, however, and the umpire held that it was not an out.

This called for protests from the Turner Club team, but the umpire refused to change his decision, and the Turner Club refused to go on with the game. Lynch Point won the game by default, getting credit for a score of 9 to 0. Strange as it seems, nine runs were scored by one hit.

Increasing Chorus For Scaling Down Debt of Germany

BERLIN April 5 —(AP)— Vice Chancellor Franz Von Papen's newspaper Germania joined today the chorus crying for further scaling down of German debt at the forthcoming transfer conference between the Reichbank and agents of foreign creditors

Cancellation of a "considerable part of Germany's debt—estimated at 12 800 000,000 marks (about $5,120 000 000)—is suggested by the newspaper

The Von Papen organ's proposal came on the heels of intimations by Dr Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank, that he will demand concessions at the forthcoming meeting, expected some time this month

Foreign circles point out, however, that when Dr Schacht has had his say, representatives of the medium and long-term creditors will have some replies already prepared

Probably they'll mention Germany's new internal expansion program as one possible reason for the reduction in the reserve The German budget has been increased about 900 000,000 marks, a considerable portion for defense.

HERE ARE MAJOR PROVISIONS OF SUGAR-MEASURE

WASHINGTON April 5— (AP) — Here are the principal provisions of the Costigan-Jones sugar control bill now pending in the senate after a favorable house vote

The stated object of the measure is to stabilize the sugar industry to avert a threatened collapse of prices due to oversupply.

It establishes an annual production quota of 1,550,000 tons for domestic beet sugar producers and 260,000 tons for Louisiana and Florida sugar cane growers.

Empowers the secretary of agriculture to fix quotas for sources of supply outside continental United States through restricted importations

Includes sugar as a basic commodity under the agriculture adjustment act and levies a processing tax to return benefits to growers for curtailed production

Authorizes the secretary of agriculture to adjudicate disputes between processors and growers

Limits importations of direct consumption sugar and allocates not less than 30 per cent of any increase in consumption to the domestic industry.

Provides that contracts may contain provisions for elimination of child labor in the industry and calls for fixing of minimum wages.

Mortgage Bankers Agenda Arranged

Problems arising from new legislation and activities of the government and other topics will be discussed here May 11 when approximately 150 persons are expected to gather here for the annual short course of the Nebraska Mortgage Bankers association at the University of Nebraska.

The course will consist of a day of instruction in agricultural economics, crop production and farm finance. Arrangements for the meeting were discussed Wednesday evening when Dr. G E. Condra, Professors J C Russell, F. D. Keim and P H Stewart representing the university, met at the Lincoln hotel with Louis Clarke, E. B. Drake, Charles Mead and G Baumgartner all of Omaha, who represented the association
